U.S., Britain On Verge Of Historic Agreement

U.N. Assembly Shuts Door On Hectic Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The General Assembly closed the door just after midnight on a session overshadowed by the threat of nuclear war over Cuba and an undeclared war between India and Red China.

In the final hours before adjournment the 110-nation forum abolished its one-man watchdog mission for Hungary, a move which will eliminate the annual report on conditions in the Soviet satellite and probably shelve debate indefinitely on that cold war item.

The assembly recognized the revolutionary republican government of Yemen and unseated the rival royalist delegation. The vote was 74-4 with 23 nations abstaining.

The United States dropped its controversial plan for U.N. inspection of conditions in the Portuguese colony of Angola after African and Asian delegates protested that the plan might weaken an earlier assembly call for sanctions against Portugal.

The assembly also:

Authorized Secretary-General U Thant to spend up to $10 million a month in the Congo and $1.58 million in the Middle East to keep forces in the field until June 30. It also gave him authority to call a special session of the assembly next spring to deal with the grave Congo finance problem.

Extended for two more years the life of the U.N. Works and Relief Agency for Palestine refugees.

Noted a report from the 17-nation disarmament committee that its general negotiations had failed to produce an agreement on a nuclear test ban to take effect by Jan. 1.

Wading through the heaviest agenda in its history, the assembly wound up a day ahead of its deadline. This was a triumph for assembly President Muhammad Zafrulla Khan of Pakistan, who rode herd on long-winded speakers and tardy delegates all through the session.

Delegates expressed belief that the debates were shorter and contained less heat than usual because of the sobering effect of the Cuban crisis.

The India-China war was never brought before the assembly or the Security Council officially, but it was much on the minds of the delegates.

A highlight of the session was the election of Thant as full secretary-general for four years following the Soviet Union's decision to shelve its troika demand that the United Nations be run by a three-man executive.

Holiday Greetings

The Record-Herald brings you today its annual "Christmas Greetings Edition".

You will find holiday messages of good cheer from members of the Washington C. H. and Fayette County business community who have served you during the year.

The friendly relationship between the merchant, or the supplier of goods and services, and his customers is an integral and cherished part of the American way of life.

But our times have become too complex for the businessman or businesswoman to extend in person holiday wishes and words of appreciation to every patron.

In today's Record-Herald, you'll find their Christmas greetings--heartfelt, warm and sincere!

Cuba Negotiator Making Progress

HAVANA (AP)—New York attorney James B. Donovan is reported still making progress in his negotiations to win the release of 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners.

This word came Thursday night from a spokesman for a committee of Cubans in whose name Donovan is negotiating for release of the prisoners in exchange for millions of dollars worth of American drugs and food. Donovan provided no details on the progress of his talks with the Fidel Castro regime.

The freighter African Pilot, supplied by a committee of American shipping companies to the American Red Cross, began round-the-clock operations at Port Everglades Fla. Truckloads of donated medicines and foods were transferred to the dock from an airfield near Miami.

Reports from the United States said the freighter will be ready to sail for Havana by Saturday.

Donovan has expressed optimism that the veterans of the April 1961 invasion at the Bay of Pigs will be liberated by Christmas. He returned here after an overnight visit to Florida to check on the stockpiles of drugs and foods, reported worth $3 million, accumulated by plane, truck and foods, reported worth $53 million, accumulated by plane, truck and train.

Donovan took with him on his Florida visit a list of goods prepared by the Castro government. Castro originally demanded $62 million for the prisoners' freedom.

Enrique Llaca, director of the Cuban Families Committee, said in Miami the fact that Donovan did not confer with him during his visit was a good sign that there had been no hitch in the talks.

New Defense Strategy Set

Kennedy, Macmillan Reach Missile Accord

NASSAU, Bahamas, (AP) President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan were on the verge today of a historic agreement to end the transatlantic missile conflict and project broad outlines of a new long-range Allied defense strategy.

The clouds of controversy which hovered over the British-American summit meeting were breaking up, and officials said the results should open a new era in North Atlantic nuclear defense. It was heralded in some quarters as a means of easing the difficulties with President Charles de Gaulle of France and bringing the Western Big Three eventually under a single nuclear deterrent umbrella.

Officials conceded, however, that all this would take time.

"We are looking six or seven years ahead," a British spokesman said Thursday night after the two Atlantic Pact leaders concluded a second long day of hammering out the enormously complex problems they face.

Macmillan sent his Conservative government in London a detailed report on the plan to equip Britain with Polaris missiles as substitutes for the thousand-mile, Bomber-born Skybolts whose development the United States has decided to abandon.

Informed sources in London said the British cabinet gave unqualified approval to the Polaris project at an 85-minute meeting.

The Polaris agreement is expected to be announced in the communique at the end of the conference late today.

The United States abandoned the Skybolt program because of five test failures, new concepts and its high cost. Macmillan's government desperately sought an alternative since it banked on the missile to carry British nuclear warheads and keep Britain a member of the nuclear weapon club. Polaris presented an answer.

British sources said Polaris can be mounted on British submarines now under construction and the cost f the changeover is not an over-riding factor.

The impact of this British-American meeting is intended to go far beyond the substitution of Polaris for Skybolt in the British arsenal. Machinery is being set in motion which can permit

Sleet, Snow Create Minor Road Hazard

Sleet and snow coated Fayette County streets, roads and sidewalks with a sheet of ice Thursday night, making travel by car or on foot a hazardous undertaking.

But up to noon Friday not a single traffic accident had been reported to police or sheriff's officers.

More of the same kind of weather is forecast. The Weather Bureau said freezing rain Friday afternoon would probably change to snow Friday night with more light snow Saturday, all adding up to an additional one to three inches of accumulation.

City, county and state crews were on the job early Friday salting and plowing. Virtually all streets, roads and highways were listed as slushy and slippery in spots.

ROAD maintenance men reported Thursday night's icy cover was far less serious than the heavily drifted snow of two weeks ago.

This was borne out by the report that all Miami Trace school buses made their rounds without major delay Friday morning.

Yule Holiday Tragedy Feared

Safety Council Warns Of Carnage On Roads

CHICAGO (AP) — For millions of Americans, the Christmas holiday begins today with the windup of office and factory chores.

Christmas is next Tuesday and the pattern for a majority of workers was a four-day holiday including the weekend and Monday when little commercial activity is expected, and ending at the close of Christmas Day.

The long weekend is expected to include holiday trips for countless families bent on joining reunions, and thereby, the National Safety Council says, hangs an unusual traffic accident peril.

With heavy highway travel, unfavorable winter driving conditions in many areas, and thousands of relaxed and inept drivers on the roads, the council said, traffic fatalities are likely to run between 650 and 750.

The estimate covers a 102-hour period from 6 p.m. (local time) tonight until midnight Tuesday. The council also estimated that between 27,000 and 33,000 persons will suffer disabling injuries during the period.

The safety council's spread of 100 in its holiday projection of fatalities covers a range including the all-time traffic death toll for any holiday — 706 during the four-day Christmas of 1956. The lowest four-day Christmas tolls since World War II was 535 during Christmas weekend of 1951. In last year's three-day holiday, there were 524 traffic fatalities.

The safety council said a non-holiday weekend at this time of year could be expected to account for 470 traffic deaths. But an Associated Press count of highway fatalities in the 102-hour period from 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 7 to midnight Tuesday, Dec. 11, showed 371 deaths.

PanAm, TWA Seek To Merge Into $1.2 Billion System

NEW YORK (AP)—Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines bid today for government approval of merger into a globe-girdling, $1.2-billion system.

The proposal, if approved, would alter U.S. international policy by eliminating competition between American carriers on the busy North Atlantic route where 16 foreign airlines have claimed about two-thirds of the traffic.

The merger agreement, in the making nearly a year, was signed Thursday by directors of Pan Am and TWA. It was to be filed today with the Civil Aeronautics Board.

CAB approval is required, plus that of President Kennedy because of the international ramifications.

The combine would embrace 80,000 system-route miles in the U.S. and abroad, would serve 169 cities, and would have nearly 44,000 employes.

In revenues and passengers carried, it would replace United Air Lines as the nation's largest carrier and would surpass even the proposed combination of American and Eastern Airlines, now second and fourth-ranking.

A CAB examiner three weeks ago recommended rejection of the American-Eastern merger, involving domestic routes almost exclusively, on monopoly grounds.

The TWA-Pan Am plan added to a rash of merger proposals in the air, railroad and highway segments of public transportation, several of them based on financial distress.

In many of these unions have objected, fearing loss of jobs.

A new operating company proposed in the agreement to run both Pan Am and TWA aircraft and properties would be headed by Juan L. Trippe, Pan Am president. The No. 2 position would go to Charles C. Tillinghast Jr., president of TWA.

The complicated plan calls for the new company, Pan American World Airlines, to issue 18,020,218 shares of common stock.

Of the total, 6,674, 155 would be exchanged on a one-for-one basis for present TWA shares, and 11,346,063 would be turned over on a 1.7-for-1 ratio to the existing Pan Am.

The present Pan Am would retain certain assets, including $6.5 million in cash and 463,988 shares of National Airlines stock, and continue as a holding company, with control over the new operating concern.

U.N. Aide Heads Back To Congo

U.S. Military Unit To Inspect Area

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Robert K. A. Gardiner, the U.N. chief in the Congo, headed back there today to direct the next phase of the drive to end the 29-month-old secession of Katanga province.

Gardiner, a Ghanaian, followed an eight-man U.S. military mission headed by Lt. Gen. Louis W. Truman.

Truman's group left Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland late Thursday for Leopoldville.

Truman said he expected to spend five or six days in the Congo studying whether the United States could fill specific requests for military equipment for the U.N. Congo force.

He said there were no plans for him to leave anybody in the Congo and no plans for a U.S. military training mission there. He declined to say what kind of military equipment the United Nations had asked the United States for but U.S. deputy delegate Charles W. Yost said he doubted that the United States would supply fighter planes.

One informant reported the United Nations had asked for transport planes, helicopters, jeeps and temporary bridges.

U.N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche told newsmen Katanga had perhaps 40 planes but could do nothing with them "when we have planes in the air."

Schools Close As Community Completes Christmas Plans

The Christmas holiday began to get under way in Fayette County today as Washington C. H. and Miami Trace schools closed at the end of Friday's classes, not to reopen until Wednesday, Jan. 2.

City Building employes also begin their holiday at the close of business Friday. City offices normally close on Saturdays, and Monday will be a "bonus day off" in anticipation of Christmas on Tuesday.

Courthouse offices will close at the regular noon hour Saturday and will remain dark until the usual opening hour Wednesday.

Most Washington C. H. stores, open until 9 p.m. through Saturday, will close at 5 p.m. Christmas Eve and remained closed the following day. One drugstore will serve the community on Christmas Day. Downtown Drug Co. will be open from 8 a.m. until noon and from 5 p.m. until 10 p.m.

Train Rips Truck; Trio Is Killed

OKEECHOBEE, Fla. (AP) — A collision between a passenger train and a truck wrecked the train and demolished the truck, killing three persons and crowding this little community's hospital with injured.

The Seaboard Air Line Railroad's Miami-to-New York "Silver Star," traveling 70 to 80 m.p.h., and a tractor-trailer loaded with oranges met just before 7 p.m., Thursday a mile northwest of Okeechobee.

Both locomotives and seven of the train's 11 cars jumped the rails. The engines toppled over and the derailed coaches — some sheered off their wheels — came to rest at tipsy angles. A large portion of track was torn up.

The lead locomotive, in which two trainmen died, blazed for two hours. Firemen kept the diesel oil-fed flames from spreading.

The dead were identified as H.O. Slaughter, 50, the train's baggagemaster, of Wildwood; William Bell, 50, of Tampa, its fireman; and O.B. Jones, 38, of Haines City, driver of the truck.

Seventeen persons, most of them train passengers bound north for Christmas, were admitted to the 35-bed Okeechobee general hospital.

Five others were checked over or treated for minor injuries at doctors' offices.

Cincy Firm Low On State Building

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Cincinnati firm of Frank Messer and Sons, Inc. is apparent low bidder on the general construction contract for a new state highway department building, public works officials said today.

The building will be on the north side of the state office building in downtown Columbus. Officials said the Messer firm's bid was $3,423,200, compared with a state estimate of $3,603,321.

Messer was the apparent low bidder on the same project earlier this month, but all bids were above the state estimate and contractors were invited to bid again.

Episcopal Clergy Recruits Laymen To Visit Parishoners

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP)—An Episcopal parish which has grown so large its clergy find it impossible to make all of the traditional personal visits is meeting the problem by having members call upon each other.

St. John's Church terms this the ministry of the laity—lay members who volunteer to make calls on an organized basis so that the 1,500 families will be visited at least once a year, apart from any effort to raise money.

"This is not intended to supplant the work of the clergy," says the Rev. Canon John M. Shufelt, in his third year as rector of St. John's. "There are certain functions which we must perform which the laity cannot. But it does fulfill a God-given task placed upon every Christian, namely, to witness actively for what he believes."

Canon Shufelt says that as far as he knows "ours is the only such project anywhere in the Episcopal Church which is entirely separated from the financial canvass, but we are beginning to have inquieies from other parishes."

St. John's, in the northern suburbs of Detroit, is in the top five per cent in size among all Episcopal parishes with some 4,000 persons, of whom 2,300 have been confirmed in the church. It employs two clergymen—Canon Shufelt and the Rev. Marshall Hunt—and hopes to add a third in the coming year.

Canon Shufelt and the vestry of the church discussed the problems of size when he came to the parish from St. Paul's Cathedral church in Detroit in the fall of 1960.

"The idea of our ministry of the laity didn't come from any one mind," he recalls. "But it grew out of these talks and developed as a matter of practical necessity."

First tried in the summer of 1961, the system was enlarged and refined for a second set of calls completed this fall.

The primary questions asked by the callers dealt with what the parishioner was doing at the church, what he would like to do and what he would like the church to do for him. Additionally, the callers helped bring up to date the church record of each family showing births, deaths, marriages, baptisms and the like.

Store's Secret Gift Shop Set Up For Children Only

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Six years ago, department store executive Charles Y. Lazarus decided to try a Christmas adaption of an idea used by a Paris store—a secret gift shop in which only youngsters could make purchases.

A number of stores around the nation now use the idea at Christmas time, but Lazarus — who is president of the F. & R. Lazarus & Co., Ohio's largest department store — thinks his store was the first to use it in this country.

Between Thanksgiving and Christmas last year, he says, about 19,600 children visited the Columbus store's secret gift shop.

"Everything is scaled down to size for the children," Lazarus says. "Counters are two feet high. We bring in merchandise from all over the store—the best gifts up to $3. But the great, great bulk are $1 or below."

Besides trying to have a Lazarus associate—the store's term for employes—accompany each little customer, supervisors make sure counters in the secret gift shop have picture identifications.

That is, a drawing of a mother, father, teacher or pet is placed above the counter so that even non-readers can see who the merchandise is for.

This year's shop at Lazarus occupies 2,800 square feet and is staffed with 45 fulltime employes, with 15 parttime employes on call for rush periods.

Something new this year also is a pin-on envelope. On the outside, the parent writes the amount of cash enclosed (or the amount to be charged against the store's credit card), the child's name, who the presents are to be purchased for and the approximate amount and any other comments desired.

The average sale in Lazarus' shop is $2.67. Favorite purchases for mother are cologne, dusting powder, compacts, handkerchiefs and aprons. For dad, they include cufflinks, billfolds, neckties, shaving lotion, pocket knives, cigarette lighters, memo pads and ash trays.

The store had to do some research to come up with just the right package for the youngsters, once they make their purchases, Lazarus points out. He says there are three requirements:

1. It must be square, so its shape will not identify its contents.

2. It must have a suitcase-type handle, part of the box itself, so it won't come off and children can easily grip it.

3. It must be easily opened and closed—without spoiling its appearance — so children can peek in periodically and show their purchases to brothers and sisters and friends.

Viewed in terms of profit and loss, Lazarus says, "We'd probably lose our shirt" on the shop. But he quickly adds:

"This is one of the things we think makes our store a center of excitement. And the youngsters will remember that this is where they made their first purchases on their own. If we're making 19,000 kids happy, that's 19,000 future customers."

Tito, Khrushchev Remain At Odds

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —President Tito of Yugoslavia, on his way home today from talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Moscow, made clear they failed to settle all major differences between them.

Tito told Yugoslav newsmen traveling on the train with him that after his talks with Soviet leaders on Kremlin foreign policies the policies are somewhat clearer.

But Tito indicated he intends to pursue his independent brand of communism. That policy led to his break with Moscow during the Stalin regime though relations have taken a turn for the better since.

Killed were Cecil Francis Long, 22, of Rt. 1, Quaker City, and Miss Thelma Lucille VanSyco, 16, of Rt. 1, Lewisburg.

Dominicans Divide Vote

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, (AP) — The two chief population centers of the Dominican Republic were divided today in their preference for president on the basis of early unofficial election returns.

Returns from the voting Thursday compiled by El Caribe, independent morning newspaper, showed the reform-minded Juan Bosch of the leftist Dominican Revolutionary party leading in the federal district by more than two to one over his major opponent.

Dr. Viriato A. Fiallo, the conservative National Civic Union candidate and the other chief contender, had a decided advantage in the Cibao Valley where 60 per cent of the population lives.

El Caribe's figures gave Bosch 50,638 to 20,401 for Fiallo in the capital area.

At Moca, in the Cibao Valley, Fiallo was ahead 14,349-2,299. Fiallo also led Bosch 12,757-7,075 at Puerto Plata on the north coast.

10 More Dayton Area Pinball Gadgets Grabbed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Ten pay-off-type pinball machines have been confiscated in Butler and Montgomery counties in a continuation of the synchronized nationwide raids against the machines.

Nine of the 10 machines seized Thursday were found at the K and K Music Co. in Middletown. Internal Revenue Service agents, who pulled the rapids, said the devices were moved to the music company after the earlier raids.

Election Expense Statements Filed

Accounts Deadline Friday Afternoon

November election expense accounts from four candidates and officials of three organizations, not previously on file, were in the hands of the Fayette County Board of Elections Friday, the final day for filing.

Latest to file were The Fayette County Young Republican Club, through James Kiger, treasurer, showing an outlay of $172.24 for parade and advertising expense; Belford Carpenter, Republican candidate for representative, $352.50 for advertising and printing; Reed M. Winegardner, candidate for Judge of Common Pleas Court, $416.50, for advertising and clerical work;

The Fayete County Republican Committee, through George Smith, secretary - treasurer, $2,497.79, covering headquarters expense, printed material and newspaper and radio advertising; the Fayette County Republican Club, through Richard Willis, treasurer, $136.78, representing donations to candidates; Max Lawrence, Republican candidate for county commissioner, $156.95, all for advertising.

James Wise of near Greenfield, owner of a steak house, had entered on the ballot a question of the privilege of selling liquor by the glass in Perry Township. His account showed $16 expenses.

The Board of election was expecting more statements to be filed before the deadline Friday afternoon.

Ohio's U.S. Aid Tops Midwest

CHICAGO (AP) — Ohio is receiving more funds under the newly enacted Federal Accelerated Public Works Program than any other state in the midwest region, the Chicago office of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare says.

It has been announced that Ohio cities will receive a total of $1,959,039 for a Barnesville Hospital addition ($45,000), 48 chronic beds at Georgetown's Brown County Hospital ($150,000), 104 beds at Green Spring's Villa Maria Nursing Home ($496,000), a public health center at Lorain ($22,500), 162 beds at Middletown Hospital ($1,132,062) and remodeling at Warren's Trumbull County Tuberculosis Hospital ($113,477).

The Green Springs nursing home also will receive $200,000 through the Hill-Burton Act.

Mongols Rap Albania

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda reprinted today a Mongolian attack on Communist Albania's anti-Soviet stand. The Mongolian comment carefully avoided any allusion to Albania's Chinese allies, who are Mongolia's neighbors.

Researcher Finds Recipes For Bob Cratchit's Dinner

NEW YORK (AP)—The most famous Christmas dinner in English literature is probably the holly affair at Bob Cratchit's, brought to a close by Tiny Tim's "God bless us every one."

The menu, you may recall, included roast goose with sage and onion stuffing, mashed potatoes, gravy, applesauce and a steamed Christmas pudding described by Dickens as "a speckled cannonball."

Suppose you wanted to reproduce Mrs. Cratchit's modest efforts in your own modern kitchen.

A young housewife, magazine researcher and writer named Linda Wolfe, intrigued by the problem, went to mid-19th century cookbooks.

Her research into the Cratchit fare is part of her recently published book "The Literary Gourmet" which combines literary selections of complete dinner scenes with Linda's carefully culled recipes.

She takes you from the red pottage of lentils (Esau's mess of pottage in the Old Testament) through baked meat pie of flesh (Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales") to Southern-style biscuits to go with John Steinbeck's "Breakfast."

Linda decided to do the book after years of fascination with the way writers revealed a character's personality or portrayed a society or advanced a plot through the use of food.

Although she never considered herself much of a cook, Linda set about testing the recipes she found in the numerous old cookbooks she read. The problems were many.

There was the necessity for translating words no longer in use. How would you cook chicken with grains of paradise? After much research she discovered grains of paradise were cardamom seeds.

Soviet Explodes New A-Test Over Arctic

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission reports the Soviet Union has exploded another nuclear device in the skies over the arctic.

The atmospheric blast in the vicinity of Novaya Zemyla on Thursday was described as of low yield, meaning its explosive force was equivalent to up to 20,000 tons of conventional explosives.

The test was the 35th announced by the AEC in the current Soviet series.

HOW THE WEATHER LOOKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

A low pressure system fighting eastward into Kentucky and Tennessee Thursday night pushed considerable warm, moist air at the surface, producing one to two inches of snow mixed with sleet and freezing rain over the southern and central counties of Ohio.

Elsewhere in the state, the weather was cloudy but dry.

The snow will continue over the central and southern counties today and tonight except for periods of freezing rain this morning. Snow accumulations in the southern and central counties will probably total as much as three to five inches, while in the north light snow today will result in little or no new snow accumulations.

Saturday will be cloudy with occasional light snow or snow flurries and no important temperature changes.

Some early morning temperatures today were Columbus 26, Cleveland 22, Cincinnati 31 and Zanesville 25.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO — Temperatures will average four to eight degrees below normal. Normal high 38-45, normal low 22-27. Cold over weekend, turning colder first of week. Precipitation will average about one-fourth inch west and one-half inch east mainly tonight and about first of week.

PRECIPITATION measured .39-inch during the night, coming first as light snow, then turning to sleet in the early morning hours.

By sunrise it had stopped and at 7 a.m. a small army of men manning shovels and scrapers were out clearing sidewalks in the downtown area.

The early morning low temperature waas 23 degrees. It had climbed up to about the freezing mark at noon, and was expected to drop back to the low 20s Friday night. Readings Saturday are forecast in the 28-35-degree range.

Good Hope's Lions Hold Celebration

GOOD HOPE — The Good Hope Lions Club combined its charter night and seventh anniversity observance with a Ladies Night dinner for one big celebration Thursday night in Wayne Hall.

The tables were decorated in the holiday theme by the Twin Oaks Garden Club under the direction of Mrs. Jim Braun and the hall, bright and festive with a revolving lighted Christmas tree, was decorated by Mrs. Ruby Harper. The dinner was served by the WSCS. Mrs. Mable Rife was in charge.

At the business session conducted by L. C. (Jack) Hoppes, president, the secretary's report was given by Mark King, and the Lions agreed to provide the hams for the Christmas baskets which the Parent-Teacher Organization will distribute among the community's needy.

Key awards (for introducing two or more new members) were presented to Harold Gorman, Russell Hatfield, Harold Thomas, Charles Shaper, Meade Noble, Mark King, Ray Warner and Paul Pope. Loren C. Johnson is eligible to receive one next year.

* * *

RAY WARNER was recognized for a 17-year perfect attendance record. Perfect attendance pins also were presented to 13 others with seven years; two with six years; five with five years; eight with four years; three with three years; seven with two years and four with one year. Warner transferred from another club where he had 10 years of perfect attendance.

The club now has a record of five months with 100 per cent attendance.

Of the 44 who formed the Lions Club here, which was chartered Dec. 15, seven years ago, 28 were at the meeting.

Roger Hoffman gave a condensed history of the club in which he noted some of the many community activities in which it has had a part, its welfare service record and charity functions it has sponsored.

Awards were given to the leading fruit cake salesmen: Jess Crago, 105 sold, a clock radio; Harold Bonecutter, 60, a table radio; Charles Blizard, 40, a transistor radio.

All told, 645 fruit cakes were sold by the Lions to raise money for the club's sight-saving and welfare fund.

The Rev. Lester Litton, pastor of the Good Hope Methodist Circuit, delivered the invocation before the dinner and Dr. G. Glen Hughes, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, Washington C. H., took the group on a tour of the Holy Land with pictures and a comentary.

The evening came to an hilarious close with Santa Claus, in the person of Emerson Marting, distributing gifts for everyone.

Churches Plan Midnight Rites Christmas Eve

At least three churches in Washington C. H. will celebrate the birth of Christ with special midnight services Christmas Eve.

High Mass will be sung at midnight Monday in St. Colman's Catholic Church by the Rev. Father Richard J. Conelly. There also will be special music by the church choir for this service, which always has Protestants as well as Catholics in the congregation. Masses Christmas Day will be at 8 and 11 a.m.

At Grace Methodist Church, the special Christmas Eve candle - light service will start at 11 p.m. There will be special music by the chancel and youth choirs and Dr. G. Glen Hughes will read the Scripture.

At St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church, Holy Communion will be celebrated by the Rev. Donis D. Patterson, the rector.

Although these are the three major Christmas Eve midnight services, several other churches will have special services earlier in the evening.

Regular Sunday services of virtually all of the churches in the community will have sermons based on the birth of Christ and the meaning of Christmas (See Page 11).

Most of them also either have had or will have Christmas programs by the children.

Hoffa Case Due To Go To Jury Today

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The lengthy conspiracy trial of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa goes to the jury today, barring last-minute complications.

The judge's charge and a final hour of argument by the government remain before the U.S. District Court jury begins its deliberations.

Hoffa is charged with conspiring to violate the Taft-Hartley Act by accepting concealed payoffs from Commercial Carriers, Inc., in return for labor peace.

The government contends Commercial Carriers set up and operated Test Fleet Corp. for Hoffa's benefit as insurance against labor difficulties with the Teamsters Union.

Half the stock in Test Fleet, formed in 1949, was listed in Mrs. Hoffa's maiden name. The government said this was a device to conceal the actual ownership. The prosecution says its evidence shows Hoffa got at least $51,000 in Test Fleet profits.

The two-count indictment carries with it a maximum sentence of two years in prison and a $20,000 fine.

Emotionally Destressed Now Seeking Expert Aid

EDITOR'S NOTE — More and more, the man who feels emotionally distressed seeks professional help and makes no secret of it. This, psychiatrists say, is a healthy development in the struggle to prevent and treat mental illness today. Here, in the last of a series of five special articles, is a report on how the public attitude toward emotional affliction is changing.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Recently, a man placed a personal notice in his hometown newspaper.

He said he'd be away for a time at a hospital, and urged friends to write him there.

His new address—a mental hospital.

He felt no embarrassment in admitting to emotional ailments, a need for treatment, and expectation it would work.

It is one straw in the wind of public change to regard mental illness as objectively as heart disease or TB, without stigma, shame or fear.

People don't "catch" emotional illness just to be mean or because they are weak, or feel sorry for themselves, says Dr. C. Hardin Branch, president of the American Psychiatric Association. Their treatment calls for understanding by family, friends, and the public.

Their sickness differs in one important respect — they don't seem to want to be helped, and thus don't evoke sympathy, the Joint Commission on Mental Illness and Health points out.

This expert group was authorized by Congress in 1955 to survey the nation's mental health needs, and it issued a report last year calling urgently for a vast build-up in facilities to treat mental and emotional ailments.

Neurotics—the man with a constant grudge, the woman always nit-picking at faults in everyone else—are simply hard to get along with.

One old fear is that the mentally sick usually go berserk.

But the crime rate of discharged mental patients actually is lower than it is among the general population, the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene found in a study of more than 10,000 male patients.

How does one know if he needs help?

Dr. William Menninger advises emotional checkups, much as sensible people have regular physical checkups. While there is no simple test for mental health, he lists some questions to be asked in an emotional checkup:

How do you get along with other people? When a situation gets really rough, do you lose your temper, become jittery or paralyzed, or so anxious you cannot function? How much fun do you get from constructive, creative giving of yourself?

How do you react to frustrations? By quitting? By realizing you cannot win all the time?

How free are you from anxiety? What outlets do you have when you are tense or anxious? If you are troubled, do you really try to seek help?

"The essence of all these suggestions is the recognition that we have to have the courage, before we look at other people, to be able to look at ourselves," he writes.

Depressions, the feeling you've missed out in life, continual tensions, are some common signs of emotional disturbances.

Life brings changes and losses, particularly in middle age, says Dr. Harry Levinson of the Menninger Foundation. Some ways to make up for losses include activities to express aggressive feelings, through sports, gardening or walking. You can find new friends, new hobbies and interests, new stimulations. One of the healthiest avenues is public service, volunterring to help church, social agencies, or political organizations, he adds.

Dr. Karl Menninger suggests that frequently what we need is not "don't-give-a-damn pills," but "do-give-a-damn pills" to prompt us to be useful and constructive.

As one point for concern, the joint commission declares this country faces a major crisis in mental health unless professional personnel and other programs are increased many fold within 10 years.

It calls for tripling mental health expenditures in the next decade for more basic research, for new state hospitals of no more than 1,000 beds each, smaller mental hospitals within the communities, more psychiatric beds in general hospitals, and for 3,600 full-time mental health clinics in the nation.

On the plus side, the budget of the National Institute of Mental Health was increased $35 millions this year, to $143,559,000. The National Association for Mental Health is raising about $6 million for research and other programs.

Now there is a tide of "turmoil, creativity and experimentation" in mental health, says Dr. Robert Felix of the institute.

If this continues, it "will inevitably increase our understanding of human nature and man. It can help us become constructively adaptive as individuals in an increasingly complex and competitive society."

2 Youngsters Die As Car Rolls In River

ST. CLAIR, Mich. (AP) — A family Christmas shopping trip ended in tragedy Wednesday night when an unattended auto rolled into the St. Clair River carrying two youngsters to their death.

The victims were 2-year-old Judy Solgot and her year-old brother, Walter, children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Solgot of St. Clair. A third child, Robert 3, was rescued from the icy waters.

State police said the children's uncle, Walter Solgot, 18, was babysitting with them while Mr. and Mrs. Solgot went shopping.

Solgot took the three children along later in his convertible and parked near a drug store. He saw his sister-in-law in the store and went in to join her as she finished her shopping.

Police said the car, which was parked on an incline, suddenly began to roll forward. They theorized one of the children might have pulled the gear shift into place.

The car, picking up speed in its 75-foot run, rolled across the Main Street of St. Clair, across a park and plunged nose first into 20 feet of water.

The uncle, who came out of the store just in time to see his car rolling away, tried frantically to catch up with it. He plunged into the dark waters and brought Robert to safety.

Skin divers recovered the bodies of Judy and Walter.

Slot Machines Set Up But They Won't Pay Off

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Gambling devices are illegal in Wisconsin — but 15 slot machines were installed recently in a room that's almost in the shadow of the state capitol. And it's open to the public.

The machines, all confiscated in gambling raids, are part of the State Historical Society Museum display entitled, "You Can't Win."

Christmas Cards—An Ordeal

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—One of life's little ordeals is the problem of Christmas cards.

Every year the head of the house swears that this year the family isn't going to mail cards.

"Waste of time and money," he mutters. "Nobody pays any attention to them."

Well, then a few stray cards start dribbling into him, and he panics. He decides to fight back.

He goes into a stationery store and as he browses among the nickel cards a salesman tells him:

"Don't you think it is more tasteful to send a personalized Christmas message?

"Here's a cute one showing two fat Santa Clauses trying to get down the same chimney. We can offer this one with your name on it—'seasonal good wishes from Oswald J. Gillmuddy and family'—for $75 a thousand. Will you require three or four thousand?"

"I'll take 500," says the man of the house, feeling a bit cheap.

So he takes the 500 cards home.

"A Christmas card without anything written on it seems so cold" suggests the wife.

But what to write? After heated arguments man and spouse agree the simple thing to do is to write the same thing on every card:

"The world wouldn't be the same without you."

That says it all and commits no one to anything.

So—supposing you're the man of the house—you start addressing the cards.

After you finish those to all you want to remember—your close friends, your landlord, your boss, and people you owe money to—your wife looks up and remarks.

"Dear, we still have 475 left. What will we do with them?"

The sensible thing would be to throw the remainder down the incinerator. But no—that seems wasteful.

So you start sending them to half-forgotten people, like the Lemmings, that gay couple you met on a cruise to Bermuda in 1948.

Then you get out your old high school annual and send greetings to all the old familiar faces you knew when young.

"That's better," remarks your wife cheerfully. "Now we only have 450 left."

What to do? Your Christmas cards now become deadly weapons of good cheer. You decide to send one to every person you ever met in life and you envy or have a grudge against.

"My, this is real fun," remarks your wife. "Won't they all feel guilty when they open the envelopes? I just wish I could see the expression on their faces."

When you finish this list, you find you now have only 339 cards left. What to do now?

You pick up a telephone book and begin addressing cards at random to the names therein. When the 500 cards are finally finished, you chuck them into the nearest mailbox.

Your reward?

Before the first of January you receive in return some 385 hurriedly sent New Year's cards from foes and total strangers bearing such messages as:

"The world wouldn't be the same without you either!"

"The best to you always, Mr. and Mrs. Gillmuddy."

"Great to hear from you, Oswald, old pal."

"Now we must all get together for dinner again real soon."

There is nothing quite like a Christmas card to widen one's wonderful world of fellowship.

Senegalese Shun Shedding African Blood

DAKAR, Senegal (AP) — Black soldiers decided that African blood should not be shed, and Premier Mamadou Dia's coup collapsed like a punctured balloon.

At daybreak on Tuesday, mutinous troops who had rallied to Dia in his effort to overthrow Senegal's National Assembly refused to fire on paratroopers loyal to President Leopold Senghor.

"No shooting," they shouted at the paratroopers from their positions in the government building where Dia sought refuge.

"No shooting between Africans," replied Senghor's paratroopers.

Soon the troops mixed together, slapping one another on the back, snapping fingers and dancing in the streets of Dakar.

Dia fled to the Moslem quarter where he was arrested the same day.

The diminutive Senghor, who wears gold-rimmed glasses and has written some of the most touching French verses about Africa, was master of the situation.

"Before, we were sad, now we are gay," said a gray-haired deputy outside the National Assembly building.

To Western diplomats, Senghor's victory meant that another African nation had a strong leader leaning toward the West.

The story of Dia's abortive coup still is shrouded in mystery.

It means a heartbreaking end to the long friendship of two men, Dia and Senghor, who had worked together for their country.

It was Senghor who awakened Dia politically, helping the taciturn Moslem economist and school teacher become one of Senegal's most prominent politicians.

He made Dia the nation's first premier and asked him to prepare a four-year plan as the guide to Senegal's economic future.

It was also Senghor who named Dia to the post of secretary general of the ruling Senegalese Progress Union.

But, according to sketchy indications, Dia was unhappy with the way Senghor envisaged Senegal's future.

Apparently, Dia wanted to impose on the nation a strong socialist-type regime and launch a series of reforms, and disapproved of Senghor's tendency to lean heavily toward France.

Dia miscalculated his forces. Senghor still is the hero of most of the three million Senegalese. A trial of the mutinous premier may shed some light on his motives.

Success May Follow Crisis

Success sometimes requires the seasoning of time.

It frequently eludes men until they're well past 40.

And it often waits to see if men survive the fire of a crisis before conferring its privilege.

A case in point is F. Lloyd Wassell. He had worked for years with an office equipment company and had a wife and six children to support. But in the midst of the depression when he was 46 years old he was fired — two days before Christmas.

The Wassells faced their bleakest Yule that year, but this emotional and economic crisis jolted Wassell into squaring his shoulders and going into business for himself —a decision which made him a millionaire within 10 years.

"When I lost that job I felt I had hit bottom," said Wassell, 73, a tall, robust man with a crownful of silver hair. He lost three sons in the war but heads a family circle happily blessed with 17 grandchildren. "I was weak and dispirited for many days but gradually I felt a resolve building up inside that henceforth I would sink or swim as my own boss.'

Wassell decided to put his office experience to work by setting himself up as a methods engineer — or efficiency expert as they were called in those days. It was rough sledding, but he was able to make a living and kept spinning his brain for new ideas to help management increase production and cut costs.

In 1941 — when he was 52 years old — firms everywhere needed improved controls to schedule wartime production and Wassell conceived the idea for a graph that would provide an overall picture of plant production.

He built a wooden bulletin board. Then he shaved down knitting needles for pegs and used fish cord for pulley lines.

The board he devised permitted labor, time and materials to be charted in advance and actual production progress shown from day to day.

He showed his Produc-Trol, as he called his invention, to heads of several firms. But only one executive showed interest — a man who urged him to show it to officials in Washington.

Soon some government and industrial orders were received. Then a business magazine carried a story about the board and Wassell's luck began to turn.

Within two years sales exceeded a million dollars a year, and in every year since then sales have shown an annual increase. Today Wassell has his own factory turning out a line which includes 16 different management tools — ranging from visual controls to rotating file equipment — sold to some 30,000 firms around the globe.

Does he ever plan to retire? He shook his head. "I happen to love what I'm doing and it's my work theory that your work should be your hobby. I feel that if a man would rather pursue his hobbies than his job he's in the wrong kind of job!

"Life is short at best," he concluded, "and we shouldn't waste precious time at chores we don't enjoy. Retirement is all right for those who injoy leisure. But I think most businessmen suffer a very great loss when they retire."

Inside You And Yours

By BURTON FERN, M. D.

How can you have tuberculosis of the finger? Isn't TB a lunge disease?

Not necessarily! TB begins in the lungs, but many spread elsewhere.

You catch it like a cold. Someone coughs, you breathe in, and the germs whisk down to the lower part of your lungs. Inflamation rages, glands swell, but you don't feel sick. Not unless you're weak, run - down or overwhelmeed with a whopping infection.

Before this "primary infection" heals, TB germs may seep into your blood stream and spread to all parts. Your resistance holds them in check, but never quite kills them. They lurk beneath the surface for years, until your resistance suddenly crumbles.

Secondary Infection

Now a "secondary infection" breaks out, often in the upper part of the lungs.

Here gravity slows circulation, weakening your defenses. X-rays soon show a giant abscess. You cough up cheese - like material as the abscess changes into a growing cavity.

Your lungs may stay healthy while you smash your hand against the car door. This innocent bruise may lower resistance, triggering a bone infection. Your finger swells tenderly and creamy infection oozes out. Keep your resistance up. Get plenty of rest fresh air, too.

Immune Germs

Until recently, miracle drugs were able to kill all TB germs but many are growing immune. Air pressure injections collapse the lung to bring cavity walls together to speed healing. The surgeon can cut out infection that won't drain or heal.

And yet, within the hour, TB will strike 5 new victims and claim one life!

Two-Way Fight

Christmas seals fight TB two ways. They pay for X - rays which help discover TB early, when it's easier to cure. And they help support the search for new drugs and weapons which can conquer TB once and for all.

Every Christmas seal you buy helps seal TB's eventual doom!

Loraine Ford Payroll Hits Record In 1962

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—The Ford Motor Co.'s Lorain assembly plant increased its payroll by $600,000 during 1962 to a record $34.3 million, plant Manager Edward W. Mehrer reported today.

The plant, which assembles Falcon and Comet compact automobiles and three lines of trucks will have turned out 341,056 vehicles by the end of the year. That is slightly under the 348,076 units a year ago. Average employment for the year was 4,500 compared with 4,614 in 1961.

3 More Judges Needed In Hamilton County

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hamilton County's Common Pleas Court judges say the court load is increasing so greatly that three more judgeships are needed.

In a court conference Thursday, they approved a proposal calling for another Juvenile Court judge and two more on the Common Pleas bench.

OU-Trained Peace Corpsmen Now Busy In African Area

Editor's Note: Following is the first of two articles by the director of the Ohio University Peace Corps Project written following an inspection tour.

By ROY P. FAIRFIELD
Director, Ohio University Peace Corps Project

WEST CAMEROONS, Africa (AP)—A Thanksgiving Day reunion highlighted my first days here, and I am anxious to report that Thanksgiving Day in Africa was celebrated in much the same way as in America.

Our table was set with turkey, peas, potatoes, minced pie and a fruit salad composed entirely of West Cameroon fruit.

Twenty-seven of our 40 volunteers who trained at Ohio were together for our holiday celebration.

One of the four volunteers from Ohio, Marjorie Brickman of Cleveland, is teaching mathematics at Kumba College of Arts and Sciences. The college, situated about 50 miles north of Buea, the capitol of West Cameroon, is a beautifully constructed school right in the heart of the jungle.

Marjorie reports that Cameroon students are equally as brilliant in mathematics as those of the same level in the United States.

Mary Cavas of Detroit, Marjorie's roommate, has been occupying her time directing an adopted version of "The Bishop's Candlesticks".

Teaching welding and shop mathematics at the only trade school in West Cameroon is the primary concern of Bob Christensen, also of Cleveland. He and his colleagues at the trade center are making great strides to enable their students to live a better life by developing skills in carpentry, electronics and mechanics.

The volunteers in the southern section of the Cameroons are engaged in many interesting projects. Several are directing singing groups (we heard one group of Cameroon girls singing "Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer" in rounds).

Another volunteer is leading a philosophy club where discussions are both interesting and provocative. Reogzniaing school libraries and various community projects also are keeping Ohio University's volunteers occupied.

Extra-curricular athletics have proved to be a challenging effort to some of the volunteers, who themselves received much training in and learned the importance of physical fitness.

One volunteer discovered a Cameroon lad who can broad-jump 21 feet barefoot with no runway, only on wet grass. One of our girls meets regularly with a local athletic committee to plan football, soccer and track games.

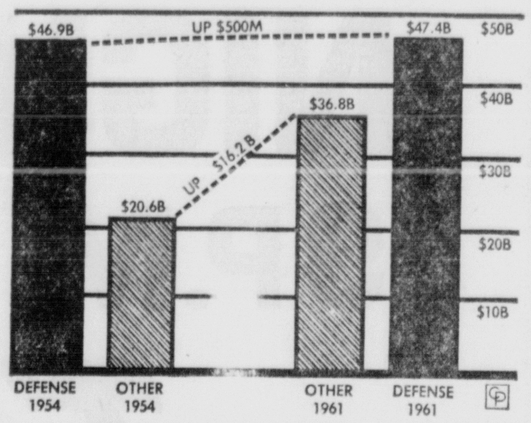
Not to be out-done, and when spare time and energy permits, some of the Cameroon Peace Corps volunteers have made efforts to reach the top of Mt. Cameroon (13,340 feet), the spectacular volcanic mountain which rises dramatically from the sea and jungle.

The volunteers, who arrived here Sept. 13, were received with open arms by the local people, and the rapport is unchanged. In the three months since their arrival, all volunteers have been housed satisfactorily, and it is safe to predict that each volunteer is making his own mark upon the school where he teaches.

The Cameroonians are especially interested in life in the United Stats. They asked how application can be made to American universities, how the Negro is treated in America, how their school system compares with that in the U.S.A. and about the Cuban situation.

These Cameroon people are ambitious, alert and eager to further their own education. Our volunteers are reaching out for a greater awareness of their own ability, of the world, and of America's objectives to aid a transitional society such as that in West Cameroon.

The Union of South Africa produces more gold than any other country.



IT'S THE LITTLE THINGS THAT COUNT UP—Chart compares the climb of defense spending, $500 million, and the climb of other governmental expenditures, $16.2 billion, from 1954 to 1961, in case you think it's the military that's been costing more and more and more. (Central Press)

211 Acre Clinton County Farm
Saturday, January 5, 1963
Sells at 1:30 P.M.

LOCATED---Four and one-half miles north of Sabina, Ohio on Lamb Road. (Follow arrows off State Route 729.)

211 ACRE CLINTON COUNTY FARM
SELLS AT 1:30 P.M.

This outstanding grain-hog farm is located in the heart of an excellent farming community and is improved with a complete set of farm buildings. Improvements include a very substantial 1½ story frame home with six rooms on the first floor and four rooms on the second. Home has partial basement, metal roof, both front and back porches. Main barn 40x42 with cement floor, large mow, new roof, electric and water. Combination machinery storage and crib building 26x60, 50x60 hog and cattle barn with attached cement feeding floor, masonry hog house 20x20 with 50-ft. cement floor, metal-clad granary 24x38 with 2800 bu. bin capacity, combination machinery storage and crib building 28x30 with overhead storage, several miscellaneous farm buildings, 20x28 masonry garage with cement floor. Second set of buildings include a 1½ story frame tenant house with four rooms on the first floor and two bedrooms on the second. This home has enclosed back porch, front porch and partial basement, two-car masonry garage with cement floor and poultry house with cement floor.
The farm lies level to gently sloping and has approximately 185 acres tillable. There is an abundant supply of water supplied from four wells, two cisterns, and live stream. Fences are average and drainage is good. The soil is predominately composed of high-producing Crosby-Brookston type. This farm with two sets of buildings is suitable for investment or father and son team. The farm is being sold to settle an estate making available this rare opportunity to purchase land in an area where farms are seldom for sale. The farm is located only three miles from the proposed new Interstate Highway 71 which will make available excellent transportation facilities to Cincinnati and Columbus. This 211 acre farm has 208.25 acres in Clinton County and 3.65 acres in Fayette County. The farm has been appraised for $63,570.00 and cannot sell for less than two-thirds of the said appraisement.
Sale on the premises. Sells to the highest bidder.
TERMS---$7,500.00 cash day of sale, balance upon confirmation of sale by the Clinton County Probate Court and delivery of deed to purchaser on or before February 20, 1963. People . . . Places . . . And Things

Round About Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

It was a bleak Christmas amid critical surroundings with many Fayette County soldiers in the Civil War just 100 years ago.

They were undergoing all kinds of hardships and facing death on the various fronts in the South.

Campany A. First Ohio Cavalry, quartered near Ft. Scott, Va., was expecting a call to battle at any time.

According to "Lovejoy", Fayette County Herald correspondent with the outfit, stoves had been received and even if blankets were scarce, the soldiers were keeping warm in their tents.

It was noted that one Southern general had told his soldiers who were without shoes to make shoes out of rawhide or go barefooted "Lovejoy" wrote:

"From preparations going on it is apparent that another series of bloody battles will soon commence. God Save our Country". He stated that the health of the soldiers was generally good.

In a later letter from the same camp, "Lovejoy" told of marching bands and dark columns of human forms passing through.

He also stated that Gen. Ambrose Burnside had laid pontoon bridges across the Rappahannock River at Fredericksburg, and when his men were fired upon, retaliated by blasting the town with cannon fire.

"The Herald reaches us regularly and we are always glad to hear anything from home", "Lovejoy" wrote.

Later reports stated that floods caused a sharp rise in the Rappahannock, and after most of Burnside's army had crossed the river, and the stream was continuing to rise, he withdrew to his former location and removed the bridges —undiscovered by the enemy.

In the Dec. 18, 1862, issue of the Fayette County Herald, it was also noted that J. B. Creamer was leaving within a few days, with a load of supplies and food for 100 ill soldiers of the 90th Ohio Volunteer Infantry in Nashville, Tenn., hospitals and that contributions were sought.

Other items in the issue were:

"George Holaman, Pickaway County, marketed a steer weighing 3,500 pounds, and two other large steers weighing around 3,000 pounds each were sold by W. Darst, of Darbyville."

David Hobway, residing three miles west of Lebanon, had produced 80 gallons of sorghum molasses on 1-3 of an acre of cane, and sold it at 50 cents a gallon.

News carried in the Richmond, Va., Examiner was that the city was overrun with ruffians, thieves and murderers, and all prisons were full.

Many of the offenders were "Deserters from the army and refugees from Northern cities" it was stated.

THOSE PINE CONES

Green branches of pine, cedar and other kinds of evergreen trees, as well as pine cones have long been features of Christmas decorations.

I have seen a number of pine cones used in decorations so far this Christmas season, chiefly of the smaller varieties, although in one instance a huge sugar pine tree cone was used.

The sugar pine cones, coming chiefly from California, sometimes reach a length of 14 inches and are three to four inches in diameter. They fall from the trees every three years.

There are many of the sugar pine trees intermingled with the giant redwoods or sequoi trees of California, but one may not purchase them in Yosemite Park due to restrictions on their sale.

However a few years ago while at Yosemite and while visiting the Sequoia forest, by tipping bus drivers and bell hops we were able to abtain nearly a dozen of the big sugar pine cones and shipped them home by express.

Another large cone is that of the ponderosa pine, which grows abundantly around Lake Tahoe on the border between Nevada and California. I have seen them six to eight inches long and four or more inches in diameter.

What is puzzling, however is the size of the cones produced by the huge sequoias or redwoods. They are no larger than the end of one's thumb, being about 1¼ inches long and ¾ of an inch thick.

Some of the most symmetrical and desirable pine cones to be found anywhere come from some of the tall trees around a few the older houses in this county.

These cones are from four to five inches long, two inches in diameter, and are much prized in decorations.

There are many kinds of pine trees, and all have distinctive cones a new crop of which is produced each year.

LAKE LEVEL GOOD

While stream flow in this area has been about normal in recent weeks, one may wonder how the level of Lake Erie is holding up after the dry weather of the summer and fall.

The current report of the Division of Water, Department of Natural Resourses of the state, says:

"The Lake Erie mean level in November was nearer the monthly normal than at any time in the past seven months."

It is also noted in the report that ground water levels in general in Ohio showed better than average response to the slightly above precipitation during November.

Russia has given the new name of Tselinograd, or Virgin Land City, to a community of 100,000 in the northeastern Kazakh Soviet Socialist Republic. Its previous name, Akmolinsk, meant White Tomb.

Mrs. Rowland Is Hostess For Luncheon

Two tables centered with Christmas arrangements were used to seat the members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Maple Grove Methodist Church for a luncheon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John Rowland, White Rd. Mrs. Rowland was assisted by Mrs. Carey Daugherty.

A large assortment of cookies had been brought by members and were sold following the luncheon. Proceeds will go to the church repair fund.

Following a brief business meeting devotions were given by Mrs. Lee Rowe. Group singing of the Christmas carols was accompanied by Mrs. Rowland.

Following the reading of poems by Mrs. Rowland and Mrs. Rowe, a skit, "Christmas Is Sharing", was presented. Those taking part were Mrs. Ralph Garrison, Mrs. Clyde Carman, Mrs. Locie Eckle, Mrs. Rowe and Mrs. Fred Freshour.

Mrs. Rowe concluded the program by telling of the origin of legends of Christmas, and by reading "How Christmas Is Celebrated In the Holy Land."

Mrs. Carman was in charge of the contests for the 13 members and guests, Mrs. Joseph L. Carman, Mrs. Freshour and Robin and Cindy Rowland.

Mrs. Norman Merritt Hostess To Class

Eight members of the Willing Workers Class, Sugar Grove Methodist Church, met at the home of Mrs. Norman Merritt, Flakes-Ford Rd., for their meeting and gift exchange.

Members placed offerings of money on the Christmas tree to be used in their philanthropic work and planned a basket for a needy family.

Mrs. Don Makarius gave the devotions on "That We May Know Christ."

Two film strips of the Christmas story were shown by Mrs. Paul Brunner.

The next meeting, at the home of Mrs. Brunner, will be "Bring a Guest Night".

An exchange of Christmas gifts was enjoyed by Mrs. Frank Berry, Mrs. Lester Litton, Mrs. Ronald Stephens, Mrs. Phillis Darden and Mrs. William Clevelle.

Priest Deplores Record 'Ridiculing' President

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis W. Carney, director of the Family Life Bureau for the Catholic Diocese of Cleveland, called on radio stations and advertising media today to stop promoting a popular record which he said "ridicules the presidential family."

He recommended as a Christmas gift for the First Family "the restoration of reverence for President Kennedy, his lovely wife and their two children."

The record, "The First Family" featuring Vaughn Meader, currently is one of the nation's best sellers.

Sorority Plans Pre-School Party

Plans for a holiday party for pre-school children were made when members of the Xi Beta Psi chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority, met at the home of Mrs. Harry Fichthorn, 402 Gregg St. The party will be held at the Farm Bureau auditorium at 2 p. m., Saturday. Members of the service committee in charge of the arrangements for the party are Mrs. William Williams, Mrs. Fred Domenico and Mrs. John Richards.

Mrs. Eugene Alkire, president, opened the meeting in ritualistic form.

Reading of "A Christmas Prayer" by Mrs. Guy Briggs opened the program. She then read "At Christmas Time" and a short story, "The Shepherd Boy" by Heywood Broun. She concluded her program with a humorous reading, "A Little Tale About Christmas."

Following an exchange of gifts, among the members, refreshments were served buffet style. The remainder of the evening was spent wrapping gifts for the pre - school party.

Mrs. Fichthorn was assisted during the evening by Mrs. Edward Sexton, Mrs. Roger Klontz, Mrs. Richard Kelly, Miss Katherine Hackett and Miss Martha Hughes.

DCCW Supper Thursday

The Diocese of Catholic Church Women will hold their Christmas party and covered dish supper at St. Colman's Hall at 6:30 p.m., Thursday. Husbands of the members will be guests.

There will be separate 50 cent gift exchanges, one for the women and one for the men.

Beta Upsilon Chapter Meets

Mrs. Larry Elliott, 706 S. Fayette St., was hostess for the annual Christmas party of Zeta Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. The short business meeting was opened by Mrs. Earl Downs.

Last minute preparations were made for the annual pre - school Christmas party to be held Saturday.

Mrs. Elliott introduced the first program of the evening with the quote from Delsarte "Our voices are a universal language and express the feelings of the heart. If you would move others, put your heart in the place of your larynx.' Miss Hilda Pierce gave a program on "Voice and Vocabulary Reflect the Inner You." Part of the program consisted of having members record their voices and then hearing them.

Miss Janice Chaney was later introduced by Mrs. Elliott with the following quote: "Conversation - a road to friendship, love and marriage." The theme of Miss Chaney's program was "How Is Your Conversation?" She brought out that listening is half of every conversation and that sincerity and naturalness are marks of the good conversationalist.

After the programs the members enjoyed a gift exchange around the Christmas tree and amid the beautiful decorations of the home.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. James Aleshire. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Pierce.

Luncheon Held At Carter Home

Mrs. William Carter, 113 N. Oakland Ave., was hostess to members of the Elmwood Ladies Aid for a turkey dinner, and Christmas party on Thursday. Mrs. Carter was assisted by Mrs. David Lucas, Mrs. Robert Blake and Mrs. Mary Stackhouse. Small tables, covered with red and gold cloths and centered with candles were used to seat the guests.

Upon answering roll call, seven members who had not missed a meeting during the year were presented poinsettias. They were Mrs. Ott Coil, Mrs. Milo Smith, Mrs. Willard Moore, Mrs. Ray Wieland, Mrs. Edith Scott, Mrs. Charles Runnels and Mrs. Robert Blake.

The afternoon was spent in a short business meeting when plans were made to give money to a child for Christmas and round robin cards sent to members who are ill.

Election of officers was held with Mrs. Gerald Frey chosen president; Mrs. Milo Smith, vice president; Mrs. Russell Riggs, secretary; Mrs. Edith Scott, assistant secretary; Mrs. David Lucas, treasurer and Mrs. Carter, assistant treasurer. All were retained from the past year. Mrs. Riggs will be in charge of the flowers and cards during the year and Mrs. Carter will be the press reporter.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in an exchange of gifts among the 18 members and in enjoying a holiday visit.

Television To Emphasize Yule Spirit

NEW YORK (AP)—The Christmas spirit, in its diverse aspects, will be reflected on the nation's television screens over the holiday period. Then, in mid-week, the theme will switch abruptly to New Year celebrations.

Tonight, for instance, "Sing Along With Mitch" (NBC, 8:30-9:30 EST) will be a repeat of last season's Yuletime show emphasizing traditional tunes.

On Sunday, CBS will start a day devoted to Christmas themes at 10 a.m. with an hour-long program of special music. ABC, at 1:30 p.m. will present an hour-long drama, "The Rag Tent," which is the Christmas story told in terms of a modern migrant worker and his family.

NBC will, for the 13th time, repeat Gian Carlo Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors," with the NBC opera company. That evening there is also a Christmas show on the Telephone Hour, NBC, 10-11 with Florence Henderson and Earl Wrightson among the vocalists.

Bing Crosby's holiday special, co-starring Mary Martin, will be seen Christmas Eve on ABC (10-11).

At 11:15 p.m. Monday night, all three networks turn to religious or religious music programs. ABC will broadcast services from the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral of St. John The Divine in New York.

At midnight, NBC will broadcast the mass from St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York, and ABC, the mass from the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington. CBS will broadcast services from Christ Chruch (Methodist) in New York City.

Christmas morning services (11-12 a.m.) from Protestant Episcopal Washington Cathedral will be carried by NBC.

On Wednesday, CBS will present its review of the year's news events with many of its correspondents present and Eric Severeid as moderator (7:30-9 p.m.)

GIRL SCOUTS

Intermediate Girl Scouts Troop 1091 met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Paul Brunner.

The Green Thumb patrol and the Busy Bee Badger patrol conducted a short business meeting, after which the girls spent the remainder of the meeting making Christmas candles. Mrs. Robert Linder, a troop committee member, conducted the candle making.

Mrs. Brunner asked all girls to turn in the wrapping paper money. Also the troop, along with troop 353, is sponsoring a skating party Tuesday evening, Dec. 18, at Roller Haven. Girls are to sell their tickets and turn the money in Tuesday evening. Anyone is invited to attend.

The Busy Bee Badger patrol, the winning patrol in the selling of wrapping paper, will be hosts to the Christmas party next Thursday. Julia Brunner, patrol leader, appointed committees for the party.

Refreshments were served by Beverly Chandler, Diana Workman and Linda Brunner to the girls present and leaders, Mrs. Brunner and Mrs. George McNew.

U.S. Industry Seeks Old Role As Pace-Setter

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Foreign competition is egging a number of U.S. industries into trying again for their old role of pace setters for the world. They've already got some help from the federal government and in a couple of weeks will get some more in the new tax rules.

In earlier postwar years they were so busy filling orders of those eager for all they could produce that they kept old plants humming around the clock. This was fine, except—

Except that war-devastated Europe and Japan were being rebuilt industrially—and at first with considerable U.S. dollar aid. The new industrial plants overseas were the latest in design and the machinery the newest. The latest efficiency and cost-cutting methods were installed.

And when pent up world demand subsided, some U.S. industries found that their old ways of producing were hard put to compete with the new rivals. Some are asking for protection but some others are also stepping out to go their rivals one better with the most advanced equipment.

In recent days the American steel industry has announced various positive steps to fight the problems besetting it.

Twelve of the largest steel companies have installed or announced plans to install basic oxygen steelmaking furnaces. These produce raw steel more cheaply than the older open hearth furnaces and can turn out about three times as many tons in an hour. European use of the oxygen method is one of the reasons given for the fast growth of the steel industry there.

This has cut the American exports of steels. It has also led to importation of foreign steel products, which has plagued American producers. In the East and Midwest. On the West Coast, where importations of cheaper Japanese steel was becoming a troublesome problem, Kaiser Steel cut its price. This was soon met by other American companies shipping to that growing market.

The problem of the growth of steel markets far from the old centers of steel production also is being met. Bethlehem Steel has just announced it will build a plant near Chicago. U.S. Steel is reported planning to install oxygen steelmaking facilities nearby. The Chicago area consumes more steel than it produces and the new plants will cut shipping costs.

On the complicated labor front, Kaiser Steel will try a program that will enable it to cut costs by further mechanization and, with the approval of its union, retrain displaced workers and share part of the savings in production costs with employes.

On the research level, most of the big steel companies are stepping up efforts to perfect new products and uses to meet the competition from other materials.

In its competitive efforts the steel industry will have the help of new depreciation accounting rules for tax purposes, and after Jan. 1 an additional assist from a 7 per cent allowance on purchases of new equipment.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

There are several things I find very ironic in our recent news items.

In this Christmas season — in the state of New York, 11 parents are trying to force the discontinuance of all Bible reading in the New York schools, (in their district) the elimination of those parts of the Declaration of Independence which concerns an Almighty Being, the last verse of "America" which mentions God. (I expect this too will eventually reach the Supreme Court. Are these 11 people right according to the First Amendment, to try to force their opinions on the vast majority of the people in their district? The First Amendment guarantees freedom of religion. Are we going to have minority rule in these United States?

We have first had a Senate investigation of the "Women Strike for Peace" movement. The evidence indicates a Communist infiltration.

What about the United Nations? Why not an investigation of that Communist-dominated organization? I read recently that our military forces (under Bill No. 2180 (Senate) and Bill No. 9118 (House) Law No. 87-297), are now vested in the U. N. Security Council where the secretary must always be a Russian National. (This is by secret treaty of 1945) "Actual transfer has been postponed until public opinion is conditioned".

I think we should find out if the above is true and why the sovereignty of the United States is in the process of being transferred to the United Nations.

Our history is taking a dangerous course. We are in danger of losing our freedoms.

Just recently our government officials admitted they had manipulated the news media during the Cuban Crisis. They not only withheld news, they misrepresented it.

We're being brainwashed. Our country is in grave danger. Unless America awakens, our democratic form of government may not long last.

Four per cent of the Russians are Communist yet through the force of arms, control of the press and supression of the free speech of their people, they control not only Russia but many satellites. Are we going to stand idly by while we lose our freedoms, our Constitutional rights, our nation?

The newsmen in our nation are doing a public service in their protests against supression of news. Many of our radio commentators are also raising their voices in protest.

They are aware that a free America requires a free press, a free voice, a free people.

Let us unite to guard our country, its rights, its freedoms, it's people, and it's Constitution which protects those rights, those freedoms, those people.

Let us demand that our people in office put the United States first.

Preliminary Contracts Let For Paint, Deer Creek Jobs

Congressman William H. Harsha announced Thursday afternoon the award of contracts to Berger and Associates Limited, Columbus for aerial photography, photogrammetric mapping, ground control, topographic mapping, establishment of silt ranges, real estate topographic maps, segment maps, property surveys and legal descriptions for the Deer Creek and Paint Creek reservoir projects in the Scioto River basin.

The total consideration for the Deer Creek reservoir project (Fayette, Madison, Pickaway and Ross counties) amounts to approximately $85,438.00 of which $13,508.00 represents an option for the final phase of the real estate work.

The option may be executed by the government within 180 calendar days after completion and final acceptance of the first phase of the work.

The first phase of the contract is scheduled for completion not later than Aug. 1963. All work under the option for the final features of the real estate work must be completed not later than Jan 1, 1965.

The value of the contract for the Paint Creek Reservoir project (Fayette, Highland and Ross counties) is approximately $136,896.00 of which $28,580.00 represents the option for the final phase of the real estate work.

The first phase of the work for completion not later than Nov. 1, 1963, and all work under the option must also be completed not later than Jan. 1, 1965.

On The Brighter Side

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP — While waiting for a bus, John Lukemeier spotted a neighbor whose daughter had just married.

"Well," commented Lukemeier, "I see you've lost a daughter."

"Yes, I lost a daughter," the neighbor replied, "But I've gained a bathroom."

Auditor-Elect Plans To Keep Gobel As Aide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Deputy State Auditor C. W. Goble will continue in his present position after Auditor-elect Roger W. Tracy takes office Jan. 14, the new auditor says.

Goble, who served as adjutant general under Gov. Thomas J. Herbert in 1947-48, has held his present job under auditor James A. Rhodes since March 1, 1955.

Mine Disaster Community Slowly Develops Yule Spirit

CARMICHAELS, Pa. (AP)—Life in the depressed coal fields of southwestern Pennsylvania is seldom easy. But the people have a way of making the best of it.

So it is this Christmas season, even in the aftermath of disaster.

Two weeks ago a tremendous explosion killed 37 men deep inside the nearby Robena No. 3 mine of U.S. Steel Corp. Thirty-four women lost husbands; 65 children under age 19 lost fathers.

A shock wave of dread and gloom engulfed this soft coal region, spreading to the 17 different towns where the miners lived—places like Carmichaels, Ronco, Masontown, Uledi, Adah, Clarksville.

Four of the victims came from Carmichaels (pop. 780), closest community to the shattered mine, which derives its very existence from coal mining.

Recalling the Dec. 6 tradegy Albert M. Hathaway, secretary of Carmichaels Borough Council, says: "The whole town was upset. There was so much concern, so much sympathy for the families involved."

There is sadness still in Carmichaels, some bitterness — and even a touch of despair. But the qualities that come through strongest are courage and determination.

"This hasn't killed Christmas for the townspeople," observes the Rev. Russell C. Owens, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. "Certainly there is some dampening of the holiday spirit. They're sad—but they're trying to carry on as usual."

One of those widowed is Mrs. Delilah Tokish, 36, whose husband, Joseph 43, had worked in the mines for 22 years. Mrs. Tokish has three children—a boy 8, girls 3 and 12.

"At first I wasn't going to have anything for Christmas," Mrs. Tokish relates. "But the more I thought about it, the more I came to realize that Joe wouldn't want it that way. He adored the kids; he would want the best for them. So we're going to have the finest Christmas we can."

Mrs. Tokish, like other survivors, received $1,000 from a special disaster fund of the United Mine Workers Union. The union also will distribute a total of $20,000 among the families.

UMW Local 6321 has started a Christmas fund, and Uniontown Newspapers, Inc., has established a trust fund for the education, health and welfare of the children and other dependents. U.S. Steel has donated $25,000 to the latter fund.

Bleak Christmastide Faces Miners

WELCH, W. Va. (AP) — Bitter feelings engendered by the cutoff of union welfare benefits to hundreds of coal miners have taken much Christmas cheer from coal-dependent southern West Virginia.

In the past six months, there have been picket line clashes, dynamite blasts and occasional outbursts of gunfire in the southern Appalachian coal belt covering parts of Tennessee, Kentucky and West Virginia.

The United Mine Workers of America cut off hospital and welfare benefits to UMW miners working in a number of small mines, claiming that the small mine operators failed to pay agreed-on union royalty payments.

There is little agreement among participants on just who or what is responsible for the plight of unemployed miners who walk picket lines before small truck mines, facing Christmas with little income and less hope.

Principals in the wrangle are small mine operators, the large operators, and the UMW and a recently emerged rival labor group.

The small mine operators say the present UMW contract is little more than a conspiracy between the union and the industry giants to drive the little companies out of business.

The contract's provisions are the same for all unionized mines, large or small, calling for a wage scale of about $25 a day and a royalty—to be paid by the operator to the union—of 40 cents a ton on all coal mined.

The UMW says the contract is designed to uplift the miner and adds that the royalty, paid into the union welfare fund, last year financed $114 million in miners' welfare, hospitalization and pension programs.

The small operators say they simply cannot meet all the UMW provisions and stay in business.

The UMW says that if an operator cannot produce coal at a profit while meeting contract terms, he should not be operating.

In the small, nonmechanized mines—to quote Lloyd Haynes, who operates one of them—"there just ain't that kind of money."

When too many of the small operations under UMW contract withheld part or all of their royalty payments, the union withdrew welfare benefits of their employes.

Roving bands of pickets started closing down the small mines in protest. Small union operations were shut down in southern West Virginia as they were in eastern Kentucky and Tennessee.

Miners said the picketing was aimed at forcing the operators to pay up. Raymond O. Lewis of Charleston, W. Va., president of UMW District 17, said the union approved of the picketing "where they wilfully violated that contract and falsified (tonnage) reports."

Lewis Meadows, who lives near Beckley, is president of the Southern West Virginia Independent Coal Operators Association, an organization of small operators.

The position of the small mine owners is that their UMW contracts were not made in good faith because "the union has refused to let the small operators have any part" in contract negotiation, Meadows said.

At regular intervals since 1952 large coal operators have granted substantial wage increases, hoping each time that the raises would bankrupt all but the big concerns, Meadows continued.

Meadows suggested, as others have in the past, a separate contract for small operations. If past experience is a reliable guide, this is not a likely development.

CARNEGIE Public Library will close at 6 p.m. Saturday and will not reopen until 9 a.m. next Wednesday.

While the Dayton Power and Light Co. office will be closed on Christmas and New Year's Days, operating personnel to handle service calls and other emergencies will be available as on Sundays and other holidays.

The State Liquor Store will close at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve.

The Social Security Adminis - tration district office at Chillicothe has announced that its representative will not be at the Courthouse on the Wednesday following Christmas. Weekly visit will resume Wednesday, Jan. 2, at the usual time — 10 a.m. till 2 p.m.

The Record-Herald, following an annual custom, will not publish on Christmas Day.

But it won't be a holiday for everybody. The Memorial Hospital staff, law enforcement officers — county, city and state — and firefighting personnel will be on the job as usual.

No Commercials Please!

THE BELLS in the tills of the marts of trade have rung merrily for, lo, these many days. Time now to let the bells of Christmastime take over. Time to replace the things of commerce with those of the spirit. Let the people sing the praises today. It is enough that robed choirs and mighty organs burst forth with celestial music. It is enough that this grand day brings happiness to all, especially the little ones.

How pleasant it would be, just for a change, to set off 100 megatons of joy into the heavens and infect the whole Universe with a fallout of permanent goodwill and happiness! Just give us an old-fashioned Yuletide with peace on earth a reality and "MERRY CHRISTMAS" the hailing sign at all the crossroads of the world. Just let us have a night filled with the carols of angels extolling the glories of this solemn and joyous event. THIS is what we need and pray for . . . this is the REAL Christmas.

To each of you, then, his own spirit of Christmas. Yours may be a holy day of prayer and thanksgiving. It may be a day full of the laughter of children . . . a day of service . . . a day of feasting . . . a day of quiet meditation or a day of friendly festivities. To each of you our warmest greetings and wish that your New Year be blessed with peace.

What Does It All Mean?

Student Views Of The Christmas Season

By MARY JO STRONG

"What does Christmas mean to you?"

You ask the question of someone and it catches him off guard. He pauses trying to think as he struggles to put into words his innermost feeling.

But finally you can count on it that he'll answer; "Christmas is Christ's birthday." The little - spoken may say it in those exact words — the eloquent speech - maker may put it more expres - sively but the meaning is clear— Christmas is the birthday of Christ.

For a high school student life is busy the year round. At Christmas it's busier — twice as busy, three times as busy — it can't be measured.

Signs of Christmas inside the school appear in the manner they do in the outside world. Slowly at first: while stores are putting silver trees in windows the choirs are beginning to sing Christmas carols; more and more signs of the happy season appear until the high school like every place is celebrating Christmas.

The P.A. system plays Christmas carols, the morning devotions all refer to Christmas, a large Christmas tree stands in the main hall, the bulletin boards remind club members of Christmas parties, food is brought for charity baskets.

On top of it all teachers have the audacity to assign homework and expect people to study.

This doesn't leave much time apparently to think about the true meaning of Christmas. But once in awhile there comes a pause in the rush and confusion in which there is nothing to do but think.

Perhaps while gazing at the soft glow of lights from the Christmas tree or listening to one of the lovely songs of Christmas such as "Silent Night," our minds are drawn back to that first Christmas long ago when the light was the star of Bethlehem and the song was the hymn of angels.

Then we think of that Christ child, born in a manger, but destined to be so great. It truly is an occasion to celebrate.

This is what Christmas means to me and I think perhaps to everyone.

By LILA POLLARD

Once again the Yuletide season has crept upon us. This year as usual, the people all seem to be scurrying around finishing up their last minute shopping.

This, some say, is the way to really get the Vhristmas spirit. To them, Christmas is made up of running hither and yon, to grab a gift for each person who will be giving them a gift.

To others, Christmas means something else; this is a time to recall what took place nearly 2,000 years ago in a stable and commemorate this event. This a season in which one can be joyous, happy, and gay; yet the same person can be respectful and in deep meditation because of the many different meanings applied to the approaching holiday.

What does Christmas mean to you? Is it a time to rejoice by going out and whooping it up, or is it a time to rejoice by worshiping the Christ Child Who's birthday we are to be commemorating?

Has Christmas and its meaning become "a hypocritical sham"? Do too mnay people use it as a time to cash in on the friendships of the past year by seeing how many gifts they will receive from these friends?

I like to think that there are still people who observe this holiday for its real meaning and no other reason. These are the people who read the Christmas story to their children, who are not too lazy to write the word Christmas completely out, rather than taking the easy way out by writing Xmas.

Christmas is what YOU make it. Your spirit may be influenced by the displays you see downtown, but what you feel in your heart is your own personal feeling about anything.

How do you feel about Christmas? Do you celebrate this holiday merely for the gifts you will receive or do you take time to be holy by reading the Christmas story as it is found in the second chapter of St. Luke?

This Christmas morning as you open your gifts remember the people in other lands who don't even have the opportunity to observe this holiday; think of how they would do it if they were given the opporutnity. Then compare this with the way you are observing the birth of Christ.

Would you like to change it any now? The easiest way to do it is by putting Christ back where He belongs—First.

By DICK LEETH

Christmas spirit is now in the hearts of all young Americans. We are all out scampering about and canvassing the town to find gifts. Also, some of us are asking our parents for money to buy these gifts with.

Actually this is very wrong. The idea in Christmas gift-giving is not the cost of the gift, but rather the fact that someone thinks and cares enough to give you a gift. Just as important is the feeling you get when you know someone has paid for your gift with the money he has earned.

Just giving a gift, the money for which you have received from your parents, does not create the great blessing and feeling one receives when he gives part of himself. By himself I mean something he has earned or earned the money for. Let me again repeat the saying: "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

* * *

WHILE we are on the subject of Christmas, let me tell you what it means to me. As soon as you read the preceding sentence, everyone thought this: "He is going to tell us about Christ's birth." I hate to devastate your prediction, but it is a must that I do so. Christmas is not really Christ's birthday. No living man knows the exact date.

The Bible doesn't tell us to celebrate Christ's birthday on Dec. 25. People have used this date for gift giving, something for which it was not designed. It was originally designed to have us give thanks to God for our Saviour. In its own right it has merit by getting people to church at least once a year, and by having them think about Christ.

However, if we would give thanks to God every day, we would have the spirit of Christ's birthday instilled in us at all times. Remember everyday is Christ's birthday, and everyday is our salvation and rebirth if we would only accept it and believe in God.

* * *

THE BIRTH of Christ is important. However, just as important is how He was born, why He was born, and the things He accomplished after his birth. He was born humble and of a virgin. This proves He was of God, and that God was willing for His Son to suffer the injustices done to the poor. He came to save us from sins, showing that God is loving and merciful. He accomplished numerous miracles during his stay here on earth. These show both the love and power of God and Christ.

In closing, I say this to you: Count your blessings and thank God for them and thank Him for sending Jesus Christ. "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son and those that believe in Him shall not perish but have everlasting life."

Miss Sue Roberts, Sixth Grade, Eastside

Introducing The New Teachers

By HANNALORE MATSON

This week we introduce to you Miss Sue Roberts. Miss Roberts is a sixth grade teacher at Eastside.

Miss Roberts previously lived in Buckhannon, W. Va., with her parents, where she was graduated from West Virginia Wesleyan College.

Previously, she attended Moorehead State College in Moorehead, Ky., for three years.

While in college, Miss Roberts participated in activities which deal with art, the Methodist Church and education. While at Wesleyan she was a member of Kappa Phi Sorority.

In her spare time she enjoys folk dancing and her rock collection. She also likes to sing and is interested in art and theatre.

Miss Roberts is a member of the Methodist Church and the Methodist Church choir.

Editor's Mail

DEAR BLUE LION:

Recently our esteemed English teacher and former advisor of the Blue Lines, Mrs. Cunningham, bid us farewell. We would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation for all the help and good times we shared with her.

We realize the experiences we gained from being among her students will help us as we prepare to meet the world. Perhaps our younger brothers and sisters will have the good fortune to be among her future pupils.

We wish her the best of luck and sincerely hope she will be happy in the future.

Senior English Students

IN APPRECIATION---We of the Blue Lines staff wish to bid farewell to our advisor, Mrs. Portia Cunningham, who left the faculty recently. Without her unceasing help we would have been lost as amateur newspaper writers. We are sure that when Mrs. Cunningham returns to the faculty of W.H.S. she will be welcomed with open and grateful arms by every student and teacher. -Gary Anders

Future Teachers Have Yule Party

By KAREN WOODMANSEE

The Future Teachers had their annual Christmas party Monday, Dec. 17. The punch table and party tables were brightly decorated with Christmas balls, pine boughs, and scenes depicting the festive season.

During the evening from 7 to 9 the future teachers enjoyed games and dancing. The party ended around the punch bowl with partaking of refreshments and conversation.

Also for the Christmas season, some of the FTA members have decorated pine cones with sparkle and paint to be placed on hospital trays.

Those who helped to make the tray favors were Arita Moats, Patty Morgan, Jane McFadden, Pam Holman, Joyce Sanderson, and Jeannie Ellis.

AFS Club Serves Both School And Community

The American Field Service is a large high school organization as well as a community organization.

Dr. Dwight Ireland is president of our local community chapter. The community chapter is sponsored by contributions from other community organizations.

The purposes of the AFS are to educate members about foreign countries, to create better relations between students and to bring and send students as ambassadors of good will.

Through this, Washington High School receives one exchange student each year. Raymund Bischoff of Johannesburg, South Africa, is the present visitor.

Some of the annual projects of the club are Continental Capers Dance, the first of which was this year on Nov. 23, the Rotary Pancake Dinner and the picnic entertaining foreign students making their way from all parts of the country back to New York for their trips home.

Monthly meetings are also held with interesting programs of speakers, films and discussions.

This has been a growing organization since it began in 1959. The present membership is 58.

Bookworm Club Yule Party Held

Twenty-two members of the Bookworm Club met at Connie Creamer's home, 823 Yeoman St., for their Christmas meeting.

Mrs. Jean Grundies gave a chalk talk about the true meaning of Christmas. After the talk members had refreshments — punch, Christmas cookies, and brownies.

Each member chipped in to buy a box of the cookies which are being sold by the junior class. These will be sent to Kari Grova, the exchange student last year, for Christmas.

The three ships involved in the Boston Tea Party were the Eleanor, the Beaver and the Dartmouth.

Panthers And Lions Both Play SCO Games On Home Floors Tonight

Fayette County basketball fans will have plenty of their favorite winter sport right here at home tonight.

They can go either to the Miami Trace High School at Eber to see the Panthers tangle with the Tigers from Circleville or to Washington High School to see the Lions clash with the Tigers from Greenfield.

And, if that's not enough, they can go to Wilmington Saturday night to see the Lions and the Hurricane in action.

These are all South Central Ohio League games and all could have a bearing on the league race.

Meanwhile, the other four SCO teams also will be involved in league games tonight.

The Hurricane will be trying to bounce back from the upset it was handed at Greenfield last Friday at Pleasant View and the Falcons will fly from Franklin Heights to camp of the Indians at Hillsboro.

The Hurricane and Indians will have to win tonight if they want to keep their precarious lead in the race; for, the MT Panthers are regarded as almost a cinch to win their second league game of the season from the Circlevillians.

The Lions, who won their first game at Pleasant View and then lost the next two by narrow margins cannot be expected to coast in their games with either the Greenfielders tonight or the Wilmingtonians Saturday night. However, they have given evidence in their first three games that they are capable of upsetting either, or both, the Tigers or Hurricane this weekend. The outcome of both games can be considered a toss-up.

The Indians, who have won three of their six games, are not expected to have too much trouble in downing the Falcons, who have won only one game in seven overall. Their only win was over Greenfield's Tigers in an SCO game.

Games tonight are:
Greenfield at Washington C. H.
Circleville at Miami Trace
Wilmington at Pleasant View
Franklin Heights at Hillsboro

The only SCO teams in action Saturday night will be the Lions and Hurricane at Wilmington.

Missouri Beats Georgia Tech On Arrival At Bowl Site

(Associated Press)

Missouri today had a decision over Georgia Tech, its Bluebonnet Bowl opponent, by the narrow margin that is expected to separate the two defensive-minded teams after their football game Saturday at Rice Stadium in Houston.

The Tigers of the Big Eight Conference beat the Rambling Wrecks of the Southeastern Conference to Houston by 20 minutes Thursday as their chartered planes converged on the game site.

They aren't expected to be that far apart Saturday. Missouri, with a 7-1-2 season, gave up an average of only 5.2 points per game. Tech (7-2-1) was almost as stingy.

The Bluebonnet is the first of the big crowd team games on the post season slate. Two other bowl games are on the Saturday card, the Tangerine Bowl (Miami of Ohio vs. Houston at Orlando, Fla., and the North-South game at Miami.

Some 60,000 are expected at Houston, 50,000 at Miami and 15,000 at Jacksonville. The Bluebonnet will be televised by CBS starting at 3 p.m., EST, and the North-South at 3:30 p.m. by ABC.

The weekend is a warmup for the packed yearend schedule ahead that includes:

Dec. 29: Gator Bowl (Penn State vs. Florida) at Jacksonville, Fla.; East-West Shrine Game at San Francisco; Blue-Gray at Montgomery, Ala.; All-American Bowl (Major college stars vs. Small college stars) at Tuscon, Ariz.

Dec. 30: National Football League championship game between Green Bay Packers and New York Giants at New York.

Dec. 31: Sun Bowl (West Texas State vs. Ohio U.) at El Paso, Tex.

Jan. 1: Rose Bowl (Southern California vs. Wisconsin) at Pasadena; Sugar Bowl (Arkansas vs. Mississippi) at New Orleans; Cotton Bowl (Texas vs. Louisiana State) at Dallas, and Orange Bowl (Oklahoma vs. Alabama) at Miami.

National television will carry the Gator Bowl, East-West, Blue-Gray, NFL playoff and the four big New Year's Day games.

Both Georgia Tech coach Bobby Dodd and Missouri coach Dan Devine said they expected a defensive battle in the fourth Bluebonnet battle.

The story probably will be different in the North-South game, in the Orange Bowl.

The South is crippled by injuries to top running backs Nick Ryder of Miami and Bobby Paremore of Florida A&M, a 9.3 seconds man in the 100.

The North has a bigger team, directed by Jerry Gross of Detroit and Pat McCarthy of Holy Cross at quarterback, with Bobby Bell of Minnesota and Dave Behrman of Michigan State in the line.

WHS Freshmen And Cubs Both Meet Defeat

Both the WHS Freshman and Junior High basketball teams were still looking for their first victories of the season atfer each absorbed defeats by their Greenfield counterparts after school Thursday.

The freshman squad, under Coach William Fyffe, dropped its fourth straight decision, 33-24, to the Greenfielders in the WHS gymnasium.

Coach Roger Mickle's junior high contingent lost its second close decision in a row, 43-42, to Greenfield on the Tigers' home court.

In the freshman tilt, WHS was behind 22-7 at halftime but rallied in the second half to outscore Greenfield 17-11 to narrow the final margin to 33-24. Howard Leaverton paced the WHS team with 12 points while Harris got 11 to lead the Tigers.

WHS Freshmen will host the Miami Tracers in their next game Jan. 3.

Washington C. H. — Leaverton (5-2-12); Snyder (2-2-6); McNutt (2-0-4); McFadden (2-0-4); Dunn (0-0-0); Caldwell (0-0-0); and Montgomery (0-0-0).

Greenfield — Harris (5-1-11); Grooms (2-3-7); Beatty (3-0-6); Nooks (2-1-5); Young (2-0-4); Brown (0-0-0); Kern (0-0-0); Herns (0-0-0); Berfeld (0-0-0); and Burger (0-0-0).

* * *

IN THE JUNIOR high contest, WHS overcame a 32-28 deficit at the end of the third quarter only to lose when Greenfield sank a five-foot jump shot with five seconds to go.

Randy Kelley netted 12 points and David Matson added 11 to top the Lions.

WHS Juniors will to to Wilmington for their next tilt Jan. 17. However, Coach Mickle said he would attempt to schedule another game before the originally-scheduled contest.

The junior high dropped its opener last week, 38-35, at Hillsboro.

Washington C. H. — Kelley (6-0-12); Matson (5-1-11); Marting (3-1-7); LeMaster (3-0-6); Lentz (2-0-4); Brown (0-1-1); Brookover (0-1-1); Thornhill (0-0-0); Penwell (0-0-0); Kirk (0-0-0).

Greenfield — No scoring totals available.

Purdue Loss Is Top Upset

NEW YORK (AP)—When Miami of Ohio knocked off Purdue of the powerful Big Ten Conference 10-7 before 49,496 stunned fans in Ross Ade Stadium at Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 13, the Redskins had accomplished the most spectacular upset of the 1962 college football season.

There were other upsets of major proportions, but the nation's sports writers and broadcasters selected this game as the No. 1 stunner in the annual year-end Associated Press poll by a wide majority.

It took precedence over UCLA's 9-7 victory over Ohio State Oct. 6, Wisconsin's 37-6 shellacking of Northwestern Nov. 10, and the 14-14 tie between Texas and underrated Rice Oct. 27. These were big ones, too, for in each case Ohio State, Northwestern and Texas was rated No. 1 in the nation.

But Miami of the Mid-American Conference, enrollment 7,000 with about 4,000 male students, beat ninth-rated Purdue, enrollment over 16,000, and about 13,000 men students. And one Miami student —Bob Jencks, scored all of his team's points.

Jencks opened the scoring with a 31-yard field goal in the first period. After Purdue went ahead 7-3, Miami came up with the long 88-yard pass play that won the game. In the second quarter with the ball on the Miami 12, southpaw Ernie Kellerman faded back to his goal line and cut loose a skyscraper which Jencks grabbed in full stride near midfield and went all the way down the sidelines for a touchdown. He then booted the extra point.

Robinson Is Again Slugging Champion

CINCINNATI (AP)—Frank Robinson, Cincinnati's hard-hitting outfielder, edged Hank Aaron of Miwaukee and Willie Mays of San Francisco to win the National League slugging championship in 1962 for the third consecutive season.

Miami Ready For Tangerine Bowl Battle

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — As Houston and Miami of Ohio put finishing touches on their Tangerine Bowl preparation, coaches expressed both optimism and pessimism in regard to Saturday's gridiron display in Orlando.

Coach John Pont of Miami was worried about his team. "It's been four weeks since we've played a game," he said. "Houston closed its season two weeks ago." The Miami squad arrived from bitterly cold Ohio the first of the week.

But Houston mentor Bill Yeoman left no doubt about his Cougars' preparation. "The boys are in good condition and I'm sure they'll give us a good performance." Houston carries a 6-4 record into the contest.

Both coaches agreed the winner of the 17th annual Tangerine Trophy was a toss-up.

"It should be very close," Yeoman said. "We have a lot of respect for their personnel and they're the biggest team we've played this year." The Miami line averages 226 pounds and had an 8-1-1 season mark.

Dayton Gives Bearcats Scare

Mighty Cincinnati Wins By Only 44-37

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dayton's perennially tough Flyers may be down a little this year, but Coach Tom Blackburn still has tricks up his sleeve and one of them nearly snapped Cincinnati's long winning streak Thursday night.

The Flyers traditionally like to run. Thursday night they suddenly became one of the most cautious, unhurried quintets the top-ranked Bearcats will ever want to meet. And it unnerved the Bearcats so much that the trick almost worked.

Cincinnati struggled to an 18-17 lead at the intermission and finally pulled it out 44-37.

The Bearcats, known for their tight defenses, had the tables turned as Ron Bonham, Cincinnati's top scorer, was held to eight points. Tom Thacker took up the slack, however, by netting 21 to lead the point-makers. Gordy Hatton topped the Dayton scorers with 16.

It was Cincinnati's seventh straight triumph of the year. Dayton is 3-3.

Elsewhere, Ohio won its first holiday tournament but lost in a bid for a second.

Steubenville picked up the first trophy for the Buckeye State by defeating Youngstown 73-67 in the all-Ohio finish of the Geneva (Pa.) College Invitational Tournament. The Barons broke out of a 33-33 tie at halftime to post the victory. Youngstown's Larry Seneta was the high scorer for the game with 24. Chuck Zerger and Chuck Montgomery had 21 points apiece for Steubenville.

Ohio Northern fell from the ranks of the unbeaten in the Quantico Invitational. The Polar Bears, winners of their opener Wednesday night, lost to American University 70-60 in the semi-finals.

On the Ohio scene, Ohio University evened its record at 3-3 with a 72-57 triumph over Muskingum (2-3); Akron remained unbeaten by defeating Marietta 74-57 in the Ohio Conference game; Ohio Wesleyan whipped St. Peter's of New Jersey 67-49 for the Bishops' sixth straight victory, and Buffalo overcame a tight zone defense in the second half to edge Wooster 67-63.

Ohio U. led most of the way but clinched the victory when it held Muskingum scoreless for six minutes midway through the second half. The Muskies, however, took scoring honors with Jim Burson's 20 points. Don Hilt tallied 19 for the Bobcats.

Akron's victory put the Zips at a 6-0 season mark and 5-0 in the conference. Wyatt Webb and Dave Evans combined for 31 points—16 and 15 respectively—to spark the Akron attack. Marietta's Ed Boyce was the high scorer for the night with 21.

10-Year Cincy Stay For Redlegs Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state attorney general's office has indicated that if the new owners of the Cincinnati Reds agree to keep the baseball in that city for at least 10 years, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy may drop court action to upset its sale.

McElroy several months ago filed a $5.3 million suit to upset the deal which would officially turn the team over to a group headed by William (Bill) DeWitt, now president and general manager of the club. The sale has been approved by the Crosley Foundation, which owns the team, and all that stands in the way is McElroy's suit.

The attorney general says he filed the action because statute requires him to supervise operations of charitable trusts such as the foundation.

Junior Lightweight Match Is Scheduled

CLEVELAND (AP) — Second-ranked Johnny Bizzarro of Erie, Pa., and Mexico's leading junior lightweight contender, Neto Villarieal of Mexico City, meet in the main event of a six-bout boxing card at the arena tonight.

Bizzarro, a protege of Willie Pep and winner of his last 20 fights, is scheduled to fight the junior lightweight champ, Flash Elorde, for the title in the Philippines in late January.

Villarieal will be meeting a ranking fighter for the first time. He has won 21 of 24 fights—13 by knockouts—and his wade-in style is similar to Elorde's.

Bizzarro has won 39 fights, lost four and drawn one. Most of his 19 knockout victories came early in his career.

Your Horoscope

The Stars Say—By ESTRELLITA

For Tomorrow

EMPHASIZE your originality and spirit of enterprise. During this period you will do well if you finish incompleted tasks in the early morning and begin work on more ambitious plans in the late afternoon.

Associates should be in congenial mood now, so should be helpful in your efforts to advance.

For The Birthday

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that it may take some extra initiative, imagination and enterprise on your part to advance job and financial goals during the coming year, but the results will be well worth it.

Avoid overtaxing yourself, however, since fatigue and strain could cloud your judgment — especially during mid-June, August and early October. Put forth your best efforts in all directions, of course, but without stress or anxiety. You have no cause for worry if you do your best.

Most Favorable Periods

The period between July and September will be fine for travel; between late May and mid-November for romance and social activities; between October, 1963 and December 1963, for scientific and creative work.

Harmonious family relationships should mark most of the year.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a remarkable memory and an iron will, but will have to curb tendencies to be overbearing.

WHS Choirs Give Concert

Christmas Program Held Thursday Night

A Christmas concert by the combined Senior Choir of 95 voices and Freshman Choir of 57 voices was presented to an unusually appreciative audience in the Washington High School auditorium Thursday night.

The two mixed choirs, under the direction of Grover M. Baber, of the school's vocal music and drama departments, had been preparing for this concert since Thanksgiving.

The program of 20 songs proclaiming the joy of Christmas in many languages ranged all the way through Old English, Spanish, Slovak, Latin and modern English.

The concert was preceded by an original Christmas message by John Wead.

Carolyn Roberts wrote the narration which she read before each choral number to weave them into a Christmas story in music.

Soloists were Naomi Holloway, Phil Alkire, Donna Pfersick, Mark Coates and Bruce Core. Several other passages were sung by a trio composed of Paddi Mahoney, Jenny Junk and Carol Witherspoon.

Nellie Maud Case, a freshman, was the organ accompanist and Linda Whiteside, a sophomore, the piano accompanist.

* * *

THE STAGE had been transformed into a cathedral setting with the pipes of the pipe organ forming a backdrop for the combined choir of 152 voices. The curtain which normally hangs over the organ pipes, had been drawn and the back wall covered with greenery. Other organ pipes behind the grill of the organ chambers high in the wall at each side of the stage were silhouetted by soft green lights behind them. Hanging from the ceiling high overhead were 20 candelabra made by the students.

The choir was arranged on the split chancel on the stage so the Christmas message, the narration and solo parts could be presented between the two sections.

The auditorium entrance lobby provided the Christmas atmosphere with wreaths and greenery and arrangements of candles designed to carry out the theme of "Peace On Earth."

Transit 'Moon' Is Labeled Flop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Transit navigation satellite launched into orbit last Tuesday is a flop, but the Navy hopes to put another one aloft soon to help ships pinpoint their positions at sea.

The Defense Department said Thursday the satellite, which was to have been the first in a system of orbiting navigational aids, is electronically dead. Its radio communications system and other electronic equipment never started working.

The Navy said it hopes to have the full transit system of four navigational satellites in operation sometime next year.

DiSalle Offers Data On Police Scandal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has sent possible new evidence in Cleveland's police-burglary scandel to Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan.

DiSalle said the information was obtained nearly a year ago from an unidentified convict at Ohio Penitentiary.

Third Highway Chief Added To State Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Board of Registration for Professional Engineers and Surveyors has gained its third state highway director.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle appointed Highway Director Everett S. Preston to the board Thursday. Preston leaves his highway post Jan. 14.

He will join two other former highway directors on the board—Hal G. Sours, whom DiSalle reappointed Thursday to a four-year term, and Murray D. Shaffer of Mansfield.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The Leland Ohio Electric Co., a firm which employes about 350, has announced it will close down its small motor plant here within six months.

Negotiations with the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, AFL-CIO, are scheduled to begin Jan. 8 on severance pay and employe rights to follow their jobs. Some 280 union production jobs are involved and about 60 office jobs.

Lima Airman Is Killed In Crash On Okinawa

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has announced that a Lima, Ohio, airman was one of five crewmen killed in the crash Thursday of a tanker plane trying to land at Kadena Air Base, Okinawa.

The Ohio was identified as Staff Sgt. Robert T. Craig, whose mother, Mrs. Bessie Craig, lives in Lima.

Five Okinawans on the ground also were killed. Two crewmen survived.

Ohio Funfests Set Up Dates For Next Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Dates for most of Ohio's funfests in 1963 have been confirmed by the Ohio Festivals and Events Assn.

Early scheduling of next year's attractions makes if possible for them to be included in national calendars of events. Last year Ohio gained a tremendous amount of free publicity through the early action of the association. In addition to being publicized in national magazines and guide books, the events are listed on posters and brochures published and distributed worldwide by the division of travel of the Ohio Department of Industrial and Economic Development, and the United States Travel Service.

Executives of the various festivals and events formed the association two years ago to improve the quality of the attractions and to gain public support.

Officers of the group are: Ned H. Dresbach of Circleville, president; Samuel Abrams of Cleveland, secretary; and Roy Cox of Magnetic Springs, treasurer.

Dates set for the 1963 season: Cherry Blossom Festival, Barberton, May 4-11; Butter Churn Festival, Burton, June 8-9; Honey Festival, Medina, June 20-22; Ohio Hills Folk Festival, Quaker City, July 17-20; Ohio Indian Lore Festival, Magnetic Springs, July 10-13; All-American Soap Box Derby, Akron, Aug. 3.

American Golf Classic, Akron, Aug. 19-25; Inter-Lake Regatta, Put-In-Bay, Junior Regatta, Aug. 3-10, Senior Regatta Regatta, Aug. 10-17; Grand American Trap Shoot, Vandalia, Aug. 16-24; Parade of the Hills, Nelsonville, Aug. 18-25; Ohio State Fair, Columbus, Aug. 23- Sept. 2; Sweet Corn Festival, Millersport, Aug. 29-31.

Apple Festival, Jackson, Sept. 18-21; Little Brown Jug Race, Delaware, Sept. 19; Swiss Festival, Sugar Creek, Sept. 27-28; Apple Butter Festival, Burton, Oct. 12-13; Pumpkin Show, Circleville, Oct. 16-19.

The Maple Festival at Chardon, Milan's Melon Festical, the Carnation Festival at Alliance, Middlefield's Swiss Cheese Festival, and a balloon festival at Ashland have not selected dates for the coming season.

Marietta has proposed a high school band-o-rama event which has been set for Oct. 5.

Non-Teaching Aides Cut From Civil Service List

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's Civil Service Commission, on the advice of City Solicitor James Farrell, has cut off jurisdiction over an estimated 1,500 non-teaching employes of the City School Board.

Farrell's suggestion for the action came in the wake of an Ohio Supreme Court decision last week holding that state civil service laws don't apply in the case of non-teaching school employes.

He said it was up to the school board to see if any other arrangement could be made.

Betty Grable Is Scheduled For Return To Footlights

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Betty Grable returns to the footlights tonight after a two-year absence, and it's a pleasure to report that she's still in great shape.

That means 37-24-35.

"I haven't done a thing but play golf for two years," she reports, "But when I reported for costume fittings, I found the dimensions were exactly the same as when I was making pictures at Fox."

Las Vegas visitors will be able to renew their acquaintance with those famous dimensions during the next several weeks. Betty opens tonight with her oldtime co-star Dan Daily in "Guys and Dolls" at the Dunes Hotel.

She'll be playing the role of Adelaide, which she might have done in the Marlon Brando-Frank Sinatra film versions except for an accident to her dog.

"I had a date one day to talk to Sam Goldwyn about doing the picture. It happened that on the same day my dog, who was 14 years old and like one of the family, hurt his paw and I had to rush him to the hospital. So I sent word that I couldn't keep the date," she said.

"When Mr. Goldwyn heard that I broke a date with him because of a sick dog, he sent word that he never wanted to see me." Vivian Blaine got the role.

Betty is returning to action not because of any lure of the greasepaint — "I never was very hammy" — but because of the convenience of the engagement. She and Harry James now make their home in Las Vegas.

"It's a cinch for me," she said. "I just report to the show at 8 and go home at 11."

Betty's two-year layoff was the longest of her career. She started hoofing professionally by 7, was a Goldwyn girl at 13 — "I lied and said I was 15." For a decade she ruled as queen of the Fox lot, going from one glittering musical to another.

The easy life seemed good to her when she and Harry moved to Las Vegas.

"Harry works eight months of the year at the Flamingo," she said. "He travels with the band five weeks, and he spends seven weeks at Del Mar every summer. I could have worked if I wanted to travel, but I've never been away from my daughters and I didn't want to."

Daughter Vicki is now 18 and a student at theater arts at the University of Arizona. Jessica, 15, is at home.

Officers Probe Burglary At Madison South School

LONDON — Madison County Sheriff Herbert Markley and his deputies are still investigating a late Wednesday or early Thursday morning burglary of Madison South High School, four miles north of Sedalia on State Rt. 38-N.

Sometime during the six-hour period from midnight, thieves cracked the school's vault and took approximately $1,400 in cash, representing cafeteria funds and money recently collected from students for class rings and pictures, the sheriff reported.

Arthur Crist, the school's executive head, declined to reveal the exact amount of money stolen, but investigating officers said the amount would be at least $1,400.

Roy Keily, school custodian, discovered the forced vault, broken doors and ripped desks upon coming to work about 5:30 a.m. Thursday.

The burglars apparently used crowbars and a fire axe to force entry to various school offices and rooms, officers reported.

The dial knob on the vault door had been broken, and the pins in the door's hinges were removed to gain entrance to the vault. Authorities expressed the opinion that the job was "not professional," but Sheriff Markley said Friday he believed the culprits were adults with some experience."

Officers said there were two meetings in the school Wednesday night and that the thieves apparently entered through an unlocked front door, as there was no indication of entrance having been gained by force.

The school was last burglarized about a year ago and a man was convicted of that burglary shortly after. He is still serving a sentence in the Ohio Penitentiary, officers disclosed.

Scioto Judge Appeals Edict On Grand Jury

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Vernon Smith of Scioto County has appealed to the Ohio Supreme Court from an order to fill vacancies in grand jury venires from persons on the annual jury list.

Prosecutor Everett Burton had obtained a writ of mandamus from the appellate court against Judge Smith and Judge Lowell C. Thompson.

Burton said Judge Smith filled venire vacancies by appointing persons who were not on the annual jury lists and whose names were not drawn from the jury wheel.

6 Aircraft Accidents Recorded In November

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio had six aircraft accidents during the last month, but only one involving injury to the pilot or major damage to the plane, the State Highway Patrol reports.

The patrol said a student pilot suffered minor injuries when the plane's elevator controls jammed and he crashed while attempting to land.

More Than 1,000 Pieces In Indoor Christmas Display

HOLIDAY ART--Mrs. Leonard Dellinger, 521 S. Fayette St., has achieved probably the most ambitious example of indoor Christmas atmosphere by home decorating you can find anywhere in Washington C. H., this holiday season. Well over 1,000 varied ornaments in all sizes, shapes and colors adorn each of six downstairs rooms in her home, creating a sort of "another world" effect. At left, Mrs. Dellinger adds another set of salt and pepper shakers to a huge collection that now numbers over 500. She's been collecting them since about 1940. The multi-colored collection is one interesting part of her well-arranged indoor display.

The Christmas message in the light - hearted carol, "Deck the Halls (with Boughs of Holly)" has been particularly meaningful this year, and for several Christmases past, to Mrs. Leonard Dellinger, 521 S. Fayette St.

The rooms in Mrs. Dellinger's house, decked with holly and hundreds of holiday decorations, create a most unusual example of interior Yuletide atmosphere.

Mrs. Dellinger has nearly every hall and room in her two-story home colorfully arranged in a Christmas panorama; there are poinsettias, lighted Christmas trees miniature Santas, mistletoe and candle wreaths galore—all in well-balanced proportion that make a sort of indoor "winter wonderland."

The glittering display is best at night, when all the many-colored lights change at intervals behind silver-tinseled trees and wreaths. 1,000 different decorations in all, and every available space in the downstairs part of the house has its own adornment.

Among the most interesting individual displays in the home is a salt-and-papper shaker collection, which was actually started by a relative and passed on to Mrs. Dellinger in its early stages in 1940.

There are now between 500 and 600 shakers in a tall cabinet, part of a display in one room filled with unusually-designed dishes, glass - ware and ceramics.

Mr. Dellinger is also a collector. In a short time he has accumulated well over a hundred different types of ash trays in miscellaneous sizes and shapes.

Her husband is an employe of the Dayton Power and Light Co. here, and Mrs. Dellinger works in the office at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton.

Expresses Shout Of Joy

Expressing the merriment of Christmas, "Deck the Hall with Boughs of Holly" is an English carol set to an old Welsh air. It refers to such ancient traditions as the "blazing Yule" log.

Put Meaning In Holiday

Take time to put meaning into family holiday observances, urges Elaine Dolch, child development and family life specialist at Purdue University. Don't let the rush of activities cause you to miss the real joys of Christmas.

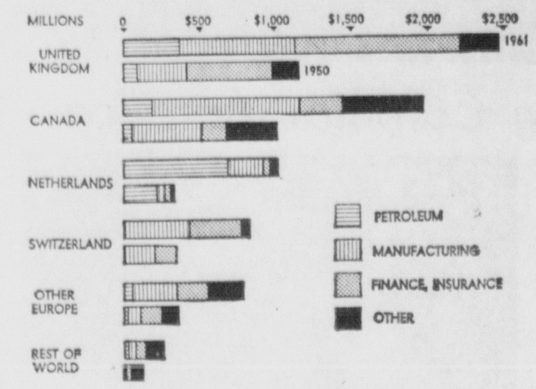
After all, it's up to parents to decide how holidays will be celebrated. They can put the emphasis on making long lists for Santa Claus or on the Christmas spirit of giving and sharing.

Sharing the spirit of Christmas can take many forms — making gifts, being helpful and thoughtful of others sharing family discussions, worship, projects and food preparation.

When deciding upon an activity to share with your child, be sure you choose something within his ability, recommends the specialist. If the project is beyond his abil - ity, he will experience failure and defeat instead of the success and accomplishment you wish him to experience.

Mother and father must decide, too, how many holiday activities outside the home fit comfortably into their schedule. Some com - munity and church activities provide rich experiences for children, but too many nights out may leave a child tired and disinterested.

Try to keep your child from becoming over-excited and over-tired during the holidays, suggests Mrs. Dolch. Keeping him on a regular schedule and providing extra periods for rest will help him stay happy and well.



FOREIGN INVESTMENTS IN U. S. WAY UP—Foreign direct investments in the U. S. are way, way up since 1950, this chart from the National Industrial Conference Board indicates. Foreign direct investments are those made in U. S. firms in which at least 25 per cent of the controlling interest is held abroad. Between 1950 and 1961 the total went from $3.4 billion to $7.4 billion. In that period, U. S. investments abroad tripled, and now total some five times the amount of foreign investments in the U. S.

Christmas 'Illegal' In Colonial America

The Three Wise Men sight the Star of Bethlehem. Observance of the Great Day was once forbidden in parts of Colonial North America.

By GLORIA GOLDSMITH
Central Press Association

"Whoever shall be found observing any such day as Christmas or the like, either by forebearing of labor, feasting, or in any other way, shall be subject to fine or imprisonment.."

Soviet Russia: Not at all. It was a Massachusetts law of 1659.

Most of us know that the Communists have tried to purge Santa Claus for 44 years, but few persons are aware that condemning Christmas is an old British-American custom. The holiday was illegal in some parts of the United States just a century ago.

The celebration of the Lord's birth was established by Pope Julius in the 4th century, but by 17th century the holiday had lost much of its religious significance. In Britain, for example, wandering minstrels sang no carols and hymns at Christmastime, but ribald tunes. Britons danced around Yule logs like revelers at a pagan rite. Finally, in 1642, parliament actually abolished the observance of Christmas!

The Puritans were then leaving Britain to make new homes in America, and with them they brought their opposition to the Christmas holiday. It was in 1659 that the general court of Massachusetts passed a law imposing a five-shilling fine for relaxing or feasting on Christmas.

• • •

CONNECTICUT'S laws against Christmas went even further, prohibiting observance of Christmas in any form, including the reading of the common prayer or the making of mince pies!

Once, when Gov. William Bradford was some Bostonians playing games in the street on Christmas, he rebuked them. "My conscience is offended," he declared, "that you should play through a day meant for labor." Bradford told the Yuletide celebrants to forget the holiday: "Work or go to jail!"

• • •

AS LATE as 1841 Wendell Phillips, prominent lawyer and an opponent of slavery, called the holiday "wicked" and it was just before the Civil War, in 1856, when Massachusetts finally relented and made the holiday legal. Until then, even schools in the Bay State remained open on Christmas.

In other parts of American, however, Christmas was always the festive occasion it is today. In Old New York, for example, Dutch Colonists named their first church for Saint Nicholas and they told the story of a lovable, generous saint who spread good will on the Lord's birthday.

The Dutch almost overdid their observance. Businessmen closed shop for a full five weeks, and relaxed from Dec. 14 to three weeks after Christmas Day!

When robins cock their heads searching for worms in the ground, they are looking— not listening. Lacking bifocal vision, the birds can best see when a single eye is pointed down.

Yuletide Serenade

Serenading their neighbors with carols is a community enterprise in St. Louis, Mo. More than 50,000 carolers participate, under the guidance of the St. Louis Christmas Carols association, established half a century ago. Voluntary contributions to the carolers are used to help handicapped and underprivileged children.

Bells

Ringing bells in churches, for solemn and glad ceremonial occasions, goes back to about 7 A.D.

In early Britain church bells tolled for an hour on Christmas Eve, announcing to Satan the coming of Christ. At midnight, joyous peals heralded Christ's birth.

Scholars Believe Christ Was Born Before 4 B. C.

Candlelight and music, pageants and prayers fill churches everywhere as Christians celebrate, at special services, the birth of Christ. The joy and wonder of Christmas, with its message of new life, hope and promise of "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men," finds expression many ways.

In choirs singing the praises of the Babe of Bethlehem, in scenes symbolizing the birth of a Child in a manger, in the gleam of candles reflecting the light of a Star, in the sound of voices raised in carols gathered from around the world and showing the true brotherhood of man, Christmas in all its beauty and glory goes out to hearts young and old.

* * *

TO WESTERN Christian believers, Dec. 25 carries all the deep religious meaning appropriate to the anniversary of the birth of Christ. As the date for the celebration of "Christes Masse," the Mass of Christ, it was selected some centuries after the Nativity — selected from a number of possible dates, among them January 6, March 21, March 29, April 9, May 20, September 29 and Nov. 17.

In some Eastern Orthodox churches, Holy Night comes on Jan. 6, Christmas Day on Jan. 7. The Armenian church celebrates Christmas on Jan. 19.

Generally, researchers are agreed that the correct date and year of Christ's birth are lost in the past, although some tentative conclusions can be drawn. Since it is the meaning of the day that counts, the date that has for centuries symbolized the coming of the Saviour will undoubtedly continue its holy significancy in Christendom.

* * *

TO THOSE who like to ponder on the world as it was when the Infant Jesus was born, and on the growth of Christianity, some delving into the researches about Christmas can be a rewarding experience. Any tendency to take Christmas for granted disappears in the fascinating study of the early Christian Church and its growth in the face of resistance.

A comparison of Biblical references with archaeological and historical researches discloses that Christ was probably born before 4 B. C. — in other words, the present year is not 1962 of the Christian era but at least 1966.

Evidence to support this relates to the reign and death of Herod. An eclipse of the moon in 4 B. C. which coincided with a Jewish religious festival, has helped historians to fix the death of Herod at about this time— and when he died, according to the New Testament, the young Jesus, Joseph and Mary were living in Egypt.

* * *

THAT the birth of Christ may have occurred as early as 7 B.C. is deduced from archaeologic al discoveries indicating that one of three major tax collections in the reign of Augustus Caesar may have taken place then.

Selection of Dec. 25 as the birth date of Christ may have been an effort on the part of early Christians leaders to counteract the pagan appeal of the Roman Saturnalia, a festival held at the turning of the year.

Sea Inspires Lore Of Ships At Yule

Ships arrive on Christmas morning, carrying Jesus, Mary and Joseph, says the English carol, "I Saw Three Ships Come Sailing." This is one of many legends developed by seafaring peoples to connect Christmas and ships.

Stories of the first St. Nicholas were carried from Asia Minor to Northern Europe by sailors, and children in Holland long believed St. Nicholas arrived by ship from Spain. In Greece, St. Basilio comes on January 1 to deliver gifts, and he too is transported by ship.

Christmas Packed With Warm Tradition

Christmas comes but once a year—and into that magic "once" are packed years and years of well-loved traditions.

Candles gleam brightly, bells ring merrily, glad carols fill the air.

Up goes the tree and on go the ornaments and lights, in many a home and in many other places, too, both in and out of doors. Evergreen branches, holly and mistletoe decorate the season.

Children eagerly await Santa Claus, his sleigh and his reindeer. Stockings are hung, and greetings and gifts, gaily wrapped, spread the spirit of Christmas.

How did it all begin? The manger scene, in churches and homes, testifies to the religious meaning and real beginning of Christmas. To be glad and grateful, to give and to help others are expressions of that meaning.

The legends and customs of the holiday season, however, come from scores of sources, and many ancient festivals have contributed their part to Christmas as a time of merry-making.

* * *

FIRST OF ALL Christmas gifts were gold, frankincense and myrrh the wise men's gifts to the Infant Jesus. Gift giving at the season of the year now celebrated as Christmas can also be traced back to pre-Christian times.

The ancient Romans exchanged gifts during their Saturnalia, a festival honoring Saturn, the pagan god of agriculture. Hanging gifts on trees figured in Druid tree worship in early Britian.

Principles of Christianity are reflected in Christmas giving to the poor and unfortunate. An old legend says that on Christmas Eve the Christ Child roams the earth, dressed as a beggar, in search of food and shelter. People believed that any kindness shown a beggar expressed a love for Jesus.

* * *

ORIGIN of Santa Claus as a gift giver is usually traced to a real St. Nicholas, bishop of Myra, in Asia Minor, in the fourth century A. D. St. Nicholas was renowned for his generosity, and he still retains his role as a gift giver in many countries, arriving on January 6—traditionally the date of the visit of the wise men.

Evergreens at Christmas are an emblem of life eternal. Ancient peoples believed that the greenness of evergreens in winter was a promise of the creator that spring would come again.

Caroling at Christmas may be a carryover from the Roman songs of the Saturnalia, or so some researchers believe.

Early Christian songs were solemn and somewhat forbidding. The simple, touching carols best liked today didn't gain widespread popularity until the 14th and 15th centuries.

* * *

IN ANCIENT FEASTS of the winter equinox, trees were adorned with trinkets. Like many pagan customs, the evergreen tree became associated with Christian observances, and legends link it to the birth of Christ.

One story says that on Christmas Eve, all the trees of the forest bloomed and bore fruit.

Candles at Christmas symbolize the coming of Christ as the Light of the World. Since earliest times, man has used lights—tourches, watchfires, beacons—on occasions of joyous celebration.

Custom of placing a candle in the window on Christmas Eve is usually attributed to the Irish.

It was thought that Christ wandered the earth on that night, and a candle would show Him a home where He was welcome, or help to light Him on his way.

THE NATIVITY—Page from a medieval Book of Hours shows the Nativity scene as illustrated and illuminated by the Limbourg brothers, famous illuminators. Books of Hours, or "Belles Heures," are hand-lettered and individually-illustrated prayerbooks intended for private devotions. This one was prepared for Jean, Duke of Berry, sometime before 1413. From The Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Santa's Elves

The little elves who help Santa in his workshop probably came from the Scandinavian countries.

In Norway, Denmark and Sweden, children are told of the "Tomtar," little gray-bearded, elf-like men who hide presents for boys and girls on Christmas Eve.

Kisses Are Numbered By Mistletoe Berries

Mistletoe figures in many legends from pre-Christian times. Druid tree-worshippers believed it had magical powers of healing. Romans thought that enemies who met beneath the mistletoe must kiss and declare a day's truce.

Today, kissing beneath the mistletoe remains a happy holiday custom. Correct procedure is that a berry must be removed for every kiss taken, and when all the berries are gone, there are no more kisses available.

Where 'Xmas' Began

"Xmas", now generally considered poor usage is an abbreviation for Christmas, was often used as a holy symbol in the early Christian church. "X", in Greek, is the first letter of Christ's name.

Marzipan's Sweet Story

Sweet is the history of marzipan, a confection that is usually thought of as Christmas candy. Today, it is still being made with the same kind of ingredients as those used hundreds of years ago.

It consists of freshly ground almonds made into a paste, whole eggs or whites of eggs, sugar, syrup and flavoring. Sometimes honey is added.

There are many legends concerning the word, "marzipan," says the Candy, Chocolate and Confectionery institute.

One old tale attributes it to the bread eaten by St. Mark in the desert — "Marci panis," the bread of Marcus.

Records show that Bartolome Scappi, secret cook to Pope Pius V, made marzipan with the ingredients now found in modern recipes for the candy.

Yuletide Spirit Stays All Year

Nearly every community has its special way of observing Christmas — and in some towns and cities, the spirit of Christmas prevails, literally, the year around.

In Waterbury, Conn., an all-year reminder of the first Noel is the re-creation of the Town of Bethlehem on nearby Pine Hill.

This non-sectarian "Bethlehem" was constructed to scale after research and study of photos showing the Biblical country.

The cave or manger where Christ was born, inns like the one where there was no room, and the Roman legation where the tax collection decreed by Augustus Caesar was to be paid are among the buildings represented.

"Poetic license" has been used to include some buildings which were not, or may not have been, located in Bethlehem, such as Grand Palace.

Crowned by a Cross, Pine Hill has proved an ideal location for the project, since its shape is similar to the limestone cliff where Bethlehem in Judea was built.

* * *

WELL - KNOWN "Bethlehems" in the United States include Bethlehem, Pa., and Bethlehem, Ind. phasizes the religious meaning of Christmas during its annual celebration. A star erected on a nearby mountain top is lighted throughout the holiday season.

Near Palmer Lake, Colo., an electrically lighted star on a mountain top is a Christmas - season beacon for motorists on highways many miles away.

Beautiful lighting displays for Christmas are famous in many U. S. cities.

In Altadena, a suburb of Pasadena, Calif., a mile-long avenue bordered by deodar cedars becomes "Christmas Tree Lane" at the holiday season. The deodars are illuminated by thousands of multicolored bulbs for the annual spectacle.

Colored lights outline the buildings of the Country Club Plaza district in Kansas City, Mo., at Christmas time.

Denver, Colo., illuminates its Civic Center during the holidays with many thousands of lights.

* * *

YULE - NAMED towns have a special interest in Christmas. Arizona, Florida and Kentucky actually have towns named "Christmas." Then there are Christmas Cove, Me.; Nazareth, Pa.; Bright Star, Holly Grove and Holly Springs, Ark.; as well as Noel, Mo.; Noel,, Va.; Mistletoe, Ky.; Claus, Ind.

There Was Talk About Yule Toast

"Who sent the first Christmas card?" is a question for which, it seems kikely, a completely accurate and satisfactory answer may never be found. Probably, the earliest cards were "do - it-yourself" projects— handwritten holiday greetings on hand - decorated notepaper.

Popular claimant for "first Christmas card" honors is the Cole - Horsley card, designed in Britain in 1843 by John Calcott Horsley, an artist, for Sir Henry Cole, director of the Victoria and Albert Museum.

Since the card showed a family group toasting the holiday with glasses of wine, the card supposedly stirred criticism by temperance adherents— even though the card also depicted "clothing the needy" and "feeding the hungry." However, another story has it that Sir Henry gained his knighthood as the result of the acclaim he received for sending the first Christmas card.

Broken Organ Inspired Carol, 'Silent Night'

A broken organ inspired "Silent Night." So that the people of the parish might have a song at Christmas, Father Joseph Mohr, an Austrian priest, wrote the carol, and his organist composed the music. It was sung on Christmas Eve, 1818, to guitar accompaniment.

"THE MADONNA AND CHILD ENTHRONED" is a 15th century representation of a favorite subject for artists. Painted in tempera on wood, it is the work of Fra Filippo Lippi, a Florentine who is known for his use of color and graceful line. From The Metropolitan Museum of Art, The Jules S. Bach Collection, 1949.

Evergreen Still Tops For Christmas Tree

Nowadays Christmas trees are made out of almost everything, from aluminum to plastic — but the world's favorite Christmas tree is still the evergreen.

Many legends explain how the evergreen became associated with Christianity and Christmas. One is the story of St. Wilfred, according to The Book of Knowledge.

Speaking to a group of converts, the saint sought to illustrate how they had broken away from the heathen worship of the Druids.

He chopped down a giant tree— an oak, since this kind of tree was one of the chief objects of Druid worship. As it fell with a crash, it split into four pieces. From the center a young fir tree sprouted.

St. Wilfred told the converts that the fir should from then on serve as their "holy tree."

"It is the sign of an endless life," he said, "for all its leaves are evergreen, and it points toward heaven.

"It is the wood of peace, for all your houses are built of the fir. Let this be called the tree of the Christ Child; gather about it, not in the wild wood, but in your homes."

Carol From Quebec

"Angels We Have Heard on High" is a French carol, although some sources say that it originated not in France but in Quebec, Canada.

Celebration Of Posada Is Custom In Mexico

Celebrating the posada is a Mexican custom focused on the Nativity.

"Posada" means "lodging" or "inn," and for the nine "posada" days from December 16 to 25, churches, hotels, social groups and families throughout Mexico act out the story of the Nativity.

A procession of pilgrims comes to the place where the celebration is scheduled. They carry clay figures of Mary and Joseph, and they seek shelter from the "innkeepers" within.

At first the innkeepers refuse, then they admit the pilgrims to feast and rejoice. Figures representing Mary and Joseph are placed in a replica of the manger. On Christmas Eve, the figure representing Jesus is added.

Readers Still Loyal To Dickens Favorite

"A Christmas Carol in Prose, Being a Ghost Story of Christmas" was first published at Christmas 1843, and since that time its popularity has never waned.

Generation after generation has laughed and cried over the story of the miserly Scrooge, who through the revelations of three spirits— Christmas Past, Present and Yet to Come— became a man who "knew how to keep Christmas well, if any man alive possessed the knowledge."

Charles Dickens, creator of the "Carol," loved it as well as, or perhaps even better than, its many readers did. He told of crying and laughing again and again, as, captivated by his story, he wrote his 30,000 - word book in six weeks.

When Dickens gave readings from his works in England and America, the story of Scrooge was always the prime favorite with his audiences.

* * *

PERHAPS the best known part of the story is Christmas dinner at the Cratchits, where Scrooge and the Ghost of Christmas Present observed the family of his clerk, Bob Cratchit, making merry over a simple Christmas dinner, highlighted by a goose—

"There never was such a goose" — and a pudding— "Oh, what a wonderful pudding!"

And a favorite character is Tiny Tim, the Cratchits' crippled son, to whom the reformed Scrooge became "a second father."

One of the most famous speeches in the English language is, doubtless, Tiny Tim's, at the conclusion of the Christmas feast, "God Bless us, every one!"

"GOD BLESS US, EVERY ONE!' said Tiny Tim." Since Tiny Tim first spoke these words at the Cratchits' Christmas feast, Charles Dickens' famous "A Christmas Carol" has become one of the best known and loved of holiday stories. Illustration above is from The Book of Knowledge.

Package Sorting Leads To Seals

Inspiration for the first Christmas seals came to Einar Holboell,, a Danish postal clerk, as he was sorting packages one Christmas season. He envisioned all the packages bearing a special stamp, with the proceeds spent to aid people who suffered from tuberculosis.

The King and many of Denmark's leading citizens endorsed the idea, in 1904. Later, the plan spread to Norway and Sweden, and in 1907 was adopted in the U. S.

'Star Singing' Early Custom

As they go from house to house at Christmas, modern carol singers may be aided by the rays of an electric lantern or a flashlight. This reflects an old custom known as Star Singing.

Early carolers in Euorpe used to make their rounds carrying a large, lighted star, representing the Star of Bethlehem. Later the star was replaced by lanterns and torches.

Nativity Scene Origins Traced

Re-creating the Nativity Scene at Christmas, with Mary, Joseph, the Infant Jesus and the animals of the manger, originated, many scholars believe, with St. Francis of Assisi on Christmas Eve 1223 in the little mountain town of Greccio, Italy.

Wishing to dramatize the birth of Christ for his parishioners, St. Francis and his helpers set up a realistic representation of the manger scene.

Changes Seen In Yule Cards

Greeting cards for Christmas show, each season, an increase in the number of religious subjects— but this has not always been true. In fact, the earliest Christmas cards often had designs that seemed to have no connection with the holiday.

Instead of Nativity scenes or symbols of holly and mistletoe, early American Christmas cards of the 19th century were decorated with roses and portraits of young ladies, according to The Encyclopedia Americana. Often, plump robins were pictured sitting on tree branches dripping with icicles.

In this early stage pin-up girls were not unusual. Kate Greenaway drawings were frequently used, some cards picturing single figures from her drawings, others portraying dancing girls with garlands of flowers.

About 1870, cards were frosted and fringed with heavy silk.

Keep Merry, Gentlemen

An old English carol that sometimes suffers from a comma out of place is "God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen." The meaning is not "God rest you, merry gentlemen," but "God keep you merry, gentlemen."

Little But Legend Known About Visit Of Wise Men

Many legends have developed around the visit of the three wise men to adore the Infant Jesus. Even their number is legendary.

St. Matthew, the only book in the New Testament that refers to the visit, reports that wise men came from the east, without stating how many there were.

It was not until later, in a legend which can be traced back to the second century, that they were called "kings," according to The Encyclopedia Americana.

In even later times, they were distinguished as Melchior, Gaspar or Caspar, and Balthasar.

The magi originally stood for the priestly caste of the ancient Persian Zoroastrian religion. As the religion moved westward, it came in contact with Babylonian beliefs and practices and derived a strong interest in astrology, demonology and magic.

By the time it reached the Graeco - Roman world, it was practically identical, in the popular view, with astrology and magic.

This explains the use of the term "wise men" by St. Matthew, since they were astrologers.

Wadi Halfa, Sudan, had no rain for 19 years.

Dowries Filled Early Stockings

St. Nicholas, the early bishop who was the first Santa Claus, is also credited with originating the custom of hanging up Christmas stockings.

According to legend, he wished to provide dowries for the three daughters of a bankrupt merchant. Since he wanted the gifts to be annoymous, he tossed bags of gold down the merchant's chimney. Accidentally, the gold fell into stockings the girls had hung by the fireplace to dry.

Factual handicap is that, though St. Nicholas lived in the fourth century, stockings weren't made with feet until the 11th century — but the Christmas stocking story is still a happy legend.

Birds And Beasts Share Christmas Legends

In the lore and legends of Christmas, the beasts of the fields and the birds of the air play their part — and appropriately so, for the oldest and holiest Christmas story of all tells of shepherds with their flocks — shepherds who went to seek and find a Holy Babe lying in a manger.

Animals of the manger in the time of Christ were likely to be the sheep and goats, cattle, horses, donkeys and pigs. All of these figure in Yuletide songs and stories — even the pig, who has held the place of honor at many a Christmas feast.

Telling of the First Christmas Eve, the famous carol, "Away in a Manger," says, "The cattle were lowing," and religious paintings through the ages have depicted both the cattle and the other animals in the manger, as well as the flocks of the shepherds.

* * *

IN SCANDINAVIAN countries people place sheaves of grain and bits of suet on trees and rooftops, so birds can feast.

Because an ancient tradition holds that animals helped to spread the glad tidings of the birth of Christ, barnyard animals in many countries are still served a special supper on Christmas Eve.

An old German legend has it that cattle kneel in their stalls at midnight on Christmas Eve. Then, for a moment, they have the power of speech.

Other legends broaden this to include all animals.

On the first Christmas, says a Spanish legend, a cow in the manger breathed on the Baby Jesus to warm him.

* * *

EARLY French - Canadian settlers in Quebec bewildered the Huron Indians by their strange — to the Indians — preparations for the celebration of Christmas. As a result, many legends about the Day developed among the Indians.

On Christmas Eve, the Indians believed, the deer kneeled to the "Great Spirit." In the hope of seeing this wondrous sight, the Hurons would hide in the cold winter night of the forests for hours.

Cats get special treatment during the Christmas season in French sections of Canada. sections of Canada.

Special food is set forth for Puss, since according to legend, if the cat meows in the house on Christmas Eve, bad luck will follow.

Feasts

Many foods for Christmas feasting have been traditional since early days of Yule merry-making, although roast peacock, the feature of the feast in mediaeval England, is rarely, if ever, seen today!

Mince pie, with its spices and fruits, is said to symbolize the riches of the East, from which the wise men came.

Legend says plum pudding began when an English king and his men were lost in a forest on Christmas Eve. The cook used foods he had on hand, including part of a stag, plums, eggs, flour, to make a single dish all could share.

Decking The Halls

Decorating with red and green, traditional at Christmas, traces back to the early use of red-berried green holly to "deck the halls."

Writer Of Famed Carol Remembered Bethlehem

"O Little Town of Bethlehem," a U. S. carol, was written by Episcopal Bishop Phillips Brooks in 1868, while he was rector of Holy Trinity Church in Philadelphia, Pa.

On a trip to the Holy Land two years earlier, he had seen the "little town of Bethlehem" on Christmas Eve, and the vivid memory of this scene later led to the writing of the carol.

Frankincense And Myrrh Gifts For Christ Child Precious Too

"And when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto Him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh."

Thus St. Matthew describes the first Christmas gifts of all, brought to the Christ Child by "wise men from the East." Each of the gifts was rare and, especially in Biblical times, truly a treasure.

Among the gifts, the value and beauty of gold is most readily apparent to modern readers. Then, however, its worth was even greater, for it was still more rare and precious than it is today. Archaeological diggings in ancient Troy, Crete and Egypt have revealed that articles of gold were usually royal treasures.

Since St. Matthew says the wise men were from the East, their gold may have come from the mines of Indian Mysore.

Frankincense and myrrh, while less familiar today, have modern uses.

Frankincense, or "olibanum," is a gum resin which flows from a tree growing on bare rocks in the mountains of southern Asia and northeastern Africa. It was formerly used in medicine but is now chiefly employed as incense in Catholic churches and Indian and Chinese temples.

Myrrh is the popular name for a gum resin obtained from a small gray - barked tree which grows in Arabia and adjacent Africa. From earliest times it has been used for making incense and other perfumes, The Encyclopedia Americana says.

Strooivand In Holland

Gifting season in Holland traditionally begins on Dec. 5 and is called "Strooivand" or "strewing night." Children place their shoes by the fireplace, filled with carrots and hay for St. Nicholas' horse — in the expectation that on the morrow the shoes will contain candy, fruits and toys.

Everygreen Celebrated By Carol 'Tannenbaum

Most familiar of many Christmas carols originating in Germany, "O Tannenbaum," or "O Christmas Tree," celebrates the evergreen as an emblem of immortality. It has added familiarity in the U. S., since the tune is used for several college songs and for the state song, "Maryland, My Maryland."

Pagan Religion Once Used Site Of Manger Scene

Gathered in the Church of the Nativity, thousands of Christians from around the world will worship in Bethlehem this Christmas. A highlight of their pilgrimage is, for most, a visit to the Grotto of the Nativity — traditionally, at least, the manger where Christ was born.

Opposition to Christianity in the first years of the new religion actually led to the preservation of the manger — an improvised stable in a cave hewn out of rock, near the center of the hill town of Bethlehem.

The Roman emperor Hadrian, who ruled from 117 to 138 A.D., sought to halt the fast spread of Christianity, and he had the cave converted to a grotto for the worship of the pagan god Apollo. The very fact that he cave was marked, though for pagan purposes, helped to preserve knowledge of the site of the Nativity.

Later a silver star was set in the stone floor of the cave, and since 1873 each regime to rule Bethlehem — now a part of Jordan — has posted night and day guard over the star.

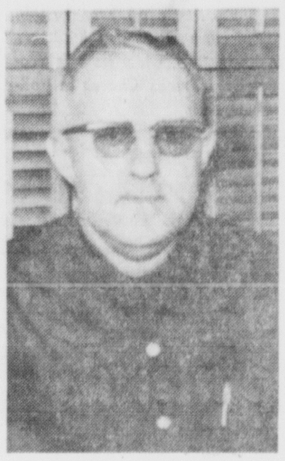
WCH Resident Active In 'Stargazer' Project

By MIKE LEWIS

That leaders in the ever - widening field of space science are turned out in production quantity in the Buckeye State was proved last week for the umpteenth time since Dayton's Wilbur and Orville Wright made their historic flight in 1913.

Ohioans could be especially proud of the achievement in research made in the 'Stargazer" balloon flight in the New Mexico desert, since at least six of those who played major roles in preparing and executing the experiment were from Ohio, or had Buckeye background — the pilot the civilian astronomer, the project director and the three ground technicians in charge of electronics, fuel system and actual construction of the capsule.



HARRY FICHTHORN

One of the six men is a Washington C. H. native, Harry W. Fichthorn, 402 Gregg St., who has been associated with U. S. Air Force personnel for more than 20 years, was "Stargazer's" electronics technician— in charge of more than 17,500 feet of control wiring in the gondola.

* * *

AFTER his formal discharge from the Air Force in 1946, Fichthorn was on Air Force civil service duty at Clinton County Air Force Base, Wilmington, until 1949. At that time, he was transferred to the Experimental Fabrication Division at Wright-Patterson AFB, Dayton, where he has remained since. Fichthorn has been associated with various high-altitude balloon research projects since 1959.

Fichthorn was one of three field technicians sent from the Wright-Patterson Experimental Fabrication Division to New Mexico to aid in the preparation for the balloon project; the experiment was aimed at gaining new information about air turbulence and the stars from the outer regions of the earth's atmosphere.

The technicians besides Fichthorn were Ed Heffling, Dayton, a sheet metals expert in charge of construction and sealing of the capsule, and Charles Black, also of Dayton, in charge of the oxygen-nitrogen fueling system.

* * *

THE PILOT, Capt. Joe W. Kittenger Jr., is also a Daytonian, and both the civilian astronomer, William C. White and the Project Director, Dr. J. Allen Hynek of Northwestern University, have extensive background at Ohio State University. White was a 1948 graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, and earned his master's degree in 1950 at OSU; Dr. Hynek was a former OSU faculty member.

Only White and Capt. Kittenger made the actual flight, which took 18 hours and 32 minutes to attain a height of 81,500 feet, or nearly 15½ miles. The balloon and its occupants were launched at 11 a. m. Thursday from a site at Holoman AFB, Holoman, N. M., and landed safely on the southwestern New Mexico desert at 5:32 a. m. Friday, about 150 miles from the launch site.

* * *

FICHTHORN pointed out that during the day, the average temperature maintained within the capsule was 58 degrees, but that at night, it plummeted to some 27 degrees below zero. The actual experiment was conducted in this temperature about midnight Thursday.

He also disclosed that the two stargazing balloonists, at 81,500 feet, were at a point above .9 of the earth's atmosphere. The gondola was thus necessarily pressurized, and an interior atmosphere consisting of 65 per cent oxygen and 35 per cent nitrogen was maintained.

The astronomical data gathered from the flight showed, among other things, that stars lose their twinkle at about 30,000 feet. Kittinger and White also made tests of air turbulence and tape recordings of the noises stars make as they twinkle. They project was termed a "definite success."

Fichthorn said the original Stargazer project was initiated early in 1959, and that it is somewhat uncertain as to whether similar flights in the near future will be conducted because of the tremendous cost involved.

Thorn Tree Blooms In Britain, D.C.

WASHINGTON — A phenomenon occurs every Christmas, not known by many, that may be witnessed by anyone in the Cathedral of the Close in Washington, D. C. or Glastonbury, Somerset, England.

It is the story of the Holy Thorn Tree that blossoms in England every Dec. 25th and in Washington sometime during the same month.

The legend relates that two days before Christmas, St. Joseph of Arimathea approached Glastonbury. He carried with him the Holy Grail used as the Last Supper.

As St. Joseph came toward the town, he stopped to rest on the crest of a hill. He drove his staff into the ground and it took root immediately.

The next day, Christmas Eve, it had become a Thorn Tree and was covered with blossoms.

Tiny Christmas Rose Gains In Popularity

By FRANK WATSON
Central Press Association

Once upon a time, as all good legends start, there was a shepherd girl — a poor shepherd girl—and her heart was filled sadness that First Christmas.

She wept because she had no gift for the newborn Babe of Bethlehem. She watched the Three Wisemen pay homage to the Christ Child with their presents of gold, frankincense and myrrh, and she wept again.

An angle heard her cry of distress and appeared suddenly, as angels sometimes do. The angel listened to the distressed girl and then waved her wand.

In an instant, glistening white flowers made a carpet for the ground and the young shepherdess gathered them in her arms. Hesitant, yet proud, she presented her gift to the Divine Infant. The Christ Child smiled and, as his fingers touched the delicate white flowers, they were tinged with a pinkish hue.

* * *

SO GOES the legend of the Christmas rose.

The Christmas rose, known by botanists as heleborus niger or black hellebore, is growing in popularity and moving up on poinsettias, holly and mistletoe as plants to deck the halls at the Christmas season.

The small plant—no more than a foot high — puts forth seven or eight white, roselike blooms touched with pink. Its foliage is a lustrous dark green.

The Christmas rose is a cold-weather plant that fights off snow and low temperatures and flowers in December or January. Belgium and the Netherlands export most of the tiny plants, which grow best in soil peculiar to the western parts of those countries.

* * *

IN THE Low Countries, the plant grows from slips removed from the parent plant after blooming sometime in January. The shoots, which are susceptible to mildrew and aphids, are grown under glass for protection. After three years, the mature plant will sprout its winter blossoms.

The ancient Romans ate the roots of the plant in hopes they would cure stupidity and relieve insanity. There is no evidence to support this belief.

An unidentified Austrian botanist introduced the Christmas rose variety to England near the beginning of the 17th century. English botanists followed the pattern of their neighbors and cultivated the plant in heated greenhouses for sale at Christmas time.

This legendary association with Christ carries over to areas where it blooms early in the spring. At that time, it is known as the Lenten rose.

Santa On White Horse

In Northern Europe, where Santa Claus arrives on a white horse, boys and girls put out food for the horse.

Tinsel

Tinsel on the Christmas tree began, so legend says, when spiders covered with webs a tree that had been decorated by a mother for her many children.

To reward the woman for her goodness to her children, the Christ Child changed the spider webs to gleaming silver.

Santa Operates Workshops Far From North Pole

Thousands of children actually get to see Santa at work every year. And they don't even have to travel to the North Pole!

The lucky youngsters are visitors to two "outposts" of Santa's workshop, located in Wilmington, N. Y., and Torrington, Conn. In either location, visitors may view Santa and his helpers as they make toys and other gifts.

"Santa's Workshop'" or "North Pole," on the side of Whiteface Mountain at Wilmington, opens in June and continues operations until November. Eight reindeer are among the live animals present in the village.

Connecticut's "Christmas Village" is open for two weeks before Christmas. Here, elves help Santa, and reindeer-replicas include the red-nosed Rudolph.

In both villages the religious meaning of Christmas is well remembered and represented, with beautiful Nativity scense illumined by a lighted star.

Pastor Wrote Song To Please Children

"Up on the Housetops" is a happy Christmas song wirtten by an Ohio pastor, Benjamin Hanby, in 1864.

Believing that music was a part of religion, he held weekly songfests for children in New Paris, Ohio. Since he was short of money, when the children needed a new song, he wrote it himself.

The song, which tells the joys of going "up on the housetops" and "down through the chimney with good Saint Nick" to the "click, click, click" of reindeer hooves, gained early popularity.

Its origin, however, was lost when the Chicago publishing house of George F. Root, publishers of the song, burned. Credit for the authorship was not restored until after Hanby's death.

'The First Noel' Carol

First published in English, "The First Nowell" is believed to be primarily a French carol. The French word "Noel" comes from the Latin word meaning birth; "Nowell" is the anglicized version. Both mean Christmas or a "shout of joy" for the birth of Christ. Tune is a medieval shepherd song.

Berries Brighten Christmas Season

The bright red berries of the Christmasberry, an evergreen shrub native to California, are widely used as Christmas decorations.

This shrub, with its thick, dark green leaves, can grow to a height of 15 feet, The Encyclopedia Americana says.

Its flowers are white, its berries yellow or bright red. The Christmasberry is often known as the toyon.

Yuletide Celebrations On Old Colonial Towns

By SANDO BOLOGNA
Central Press Association

MYSTIC, Conn. — Thousands of Americans leave their homes every December to witness and participate in old-fashioned Christmas celebrations at various re-created and restored villages.

Families enjoy the holiday atmosphere of Colonial Williamsburg in Virginia, the Moravian Yuletide charm of Old Salem in Winston - Salem, N. C., and the gay festivities here in Mystic Seaport.

Festive merriment of the 18th century prevades the colonial setting in Williamsburg where the "Grand Illumination" on Dec. 19 ushers in the two weeks of special programs.

A torchlight parade is led by the Williamsburg's militia's fifers and drummers down Duke of Gloucester St. Like a fairyland magic, a candle is lit in a window of each house as the happy crowd passes down the various streets.

The authentic 18th century carols are sung in the area during the evening of Dec. 20 as costumed craftsmen stroll on the brick sidewalks. An organ recital of Christmas music is heard Dec. 22 in the Bruton Church.

The "Royal Governor's Reception" is held Dec. 22 and 31 in the candlelit Governor's Palace, where there are outdoor bonfires and aerial fireworks in the Palace gardens. The "Band of Musick" plays 18th century music.

* * *

HOLIDAY Tricorn Hat Tours are staged for children from 7 to 11 years of age. Lanthorn tours, militia musters, concerts by costumed musicians in the Governor's Palace ballroom, candlelight tours —all are in the Yuletide schedule. Appropriate programs are held in the Information Center, Kings Arms, Christiana Campbell's and Chowning's Taverns.

The 18th century Moravian community at Old Salem, Winston-Salem, N. C., begins its holiday season with the Old Salem Candle Teas from Nov. 28 to Dec. 1 in the Brothers House (built in 1769). Admission contributions are given to the charitable causes of the Old Salem, Inc., restoration.

The Christmas Eve "love feast" takes place in the Moravian multi - pointed Moravian stars and lighted with old-fashioned bees - wax candles. Unleavened buns and Moravian coffee are shared at the "love feast," or service.

* * *

BUILDINGS visited in the tours are: Wachavia Museum (1794), Salem Tavern (1784), The John Volger House (1891), and the Firehouse Museum (1803). Forty buildings of 18th century architecture are still standing in the restored village.

Mystic Seaport lights up like a movie lot set Dec. 16 as floodlights are focused on Seaport Street while Christmas trees adorn the Charles W. Morgan, last of the wooden whaleships. Huge trees are also set up at Morgan Wharf and at the Sail Loft.

A Christmas community sing is held Dec. 23 at 4 p.m. with the organ set in the doorway of the Aloha Meeting House. Candles are lighted in all windows of the museum buildings.

The Seaport Planetarium presents a holiday show based on the Star of Bethlehem story. Christmas music and Bible readings are included in the program.

The seaport is closed on Christmas Day.

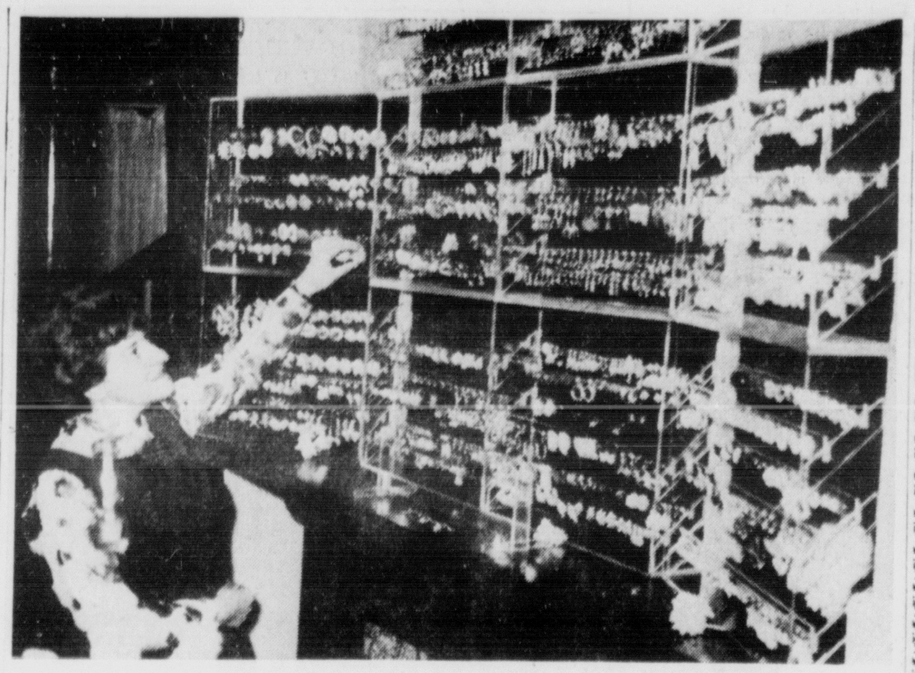
Carols Written By Many

Men from many walks of life have contributed to the Christmas chorus of carols. Francis Scott Key was not only a lawyer and the author of the Star Spangled Banner; he also wrote carols. And the comedian, Harpo Marx, authored a carol now sung in many churches, "Guardian Angels."

Make Mistletoe Last

Here's how to make your mistletoe last during the Christmas holiday season:

Spray it with clear plastic or dip the stem ends in melted wax. This will keep the leaves from shriveling and the berries from falling, says the Society of American Florists.



EARRINGS IN PROFUSION--Mrs. Kenneth Curl, 408 Van Deman St., who had "intended to stop at 500," this Christmas has 540 pairs of earrings in the unusual collection she's been gathering for several years. Her interesting hobby has brought her earrings from nearly all of the 50 states, including two flowery ones from Hawaii which, somehow, strike the eye a bit more so than the rest. Also among them are 72 pairs of Christmas earrings, and 32 pairs which are caricatures of Walt Disney cartoon characters. Mrs. Curl says she may not stop at 1,000, as long as space for her evergrowing display above the fireplace holds out.

Taste 12 Pies For Good Luck

If you would have good fortune every month of the year, the English believe, you should taste at least 12 mince pies.

And, of course, you must taste (or eat your fill) of each of the pies at Christmastime.

How much truth there is in this legend is anybody's guess. But one thing you can bet on if you try this English story, is a stomach-ache.

Iceland's Great Geysir can be coaxed into shooting boiling water high into the air with a charge of surface - tension - relieving detergent.

Many Yule Customs Come From Germany

Many modern Christmas customs come from Germany, including the lighted evergreen tree. Appropriately, gift-choosing season in West Germany today starts after Christmas bonuses are distributed on December 1.

Rare Test Offered Indignant Citizen

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Instant Indignation Test has been invented here designed to take the effort out of indignation. It is a quick, easy mptiple - choice outlet for the citizen to vent his most furious feelings on contemporary affairs.

This handy test allows the citizen to express his indignation without writing letters to politicians or newspaper editors and without making speeches to his wife — and without much thinking.

In marking the test, which appears below, the citizen is urged to be bold and vigorous. Get really mad. Punch holes in the paper if it makes you feel better.

The test:

THERE IS NO hope for this country as long as we continue to tolerate:

(1) Republicans.
(2) Democrats
(3) Southern Democrats
(4) Kennedys
(5) Voters

THE MOST outrageous thing about American foreign policy is that:

(1) It keeps getting us involved with foreigners.
(2) It almost got us into a war over Cuba.
(3) It didn't get us into a war over Cuba.
(4) It makes the State Department necessary.
(5) It isn't truly understood by anybody but me.

THE TIME has come for patriotic Americans to assert themselves and get rid of:

(1) The twentieth century.
(2) All traditions that have lasted more than 15 years.
(3) Taxes, modern art and the common cold.
(4) The American Medical Association.
(5) California.

THE INSIDIOUS triumvirate that poses the greatest threat to this country is:

(1) The President, Congress and the Supreme Court.
(2) Hollywood, Madison Avenue and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.
(3) Harvard, Boston and Hyannis Port.
(4) Barry Goldwater, Nelson Rockefeller and all such Republicans.
(5) John F. Kennedy, Harry F. Byrd and all such Democrats.

WHAT DISTURBS me most about the President is that:

(1) He is so headstrong and extreme in his views.
(2) He is so cautious and moderate in his views.
(3) He says "Cuber."
(4) He is not Calvin Coolidge.
(5) He comes from such a large family.

I GET SO MAD I can't see straight whenever I hear of anyone who:

(1) Isn't in a state of outrage most of the time.
(2) Doesn't think the world is coming to an end any minute now.
(3) Doesn't share my uncomplicated, black-and-white opinions on politics and economics.
(4) Doesn't question the motives and patriotism of people I disagree with.
(5) Doesn't have tantrums.

You Never Can Tell What Customers Want

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP) — Service to the customer involves some pretty strange things, supermarket employe Bob Archie has become convinced.

Archie was putting up a case of tissues when a woman customer approached. She explained she needed someone to mind the baby while she shopped, placed the child in the empty tissue carton for Archie to supervise, and went her way.

ECONOMICAL WHIRLYGIG---The ingenuity of Phil Tatman, 437 Warren Ave., holds his electric bill to a minimum this time of year when electric-powered Christmas lights and other gadgets make evryone else's soar. That wind propeller above Tatman's tree on the front lawn turns an attached generator that puts out a constant 45 amperes; this, in turn, charges two 6-volt auto batteries and keeps the tree lights blinking day and night--at no cost whatsoever to the Tatmans. So far as he and Mrs. Tatman know, the wind-powered generator rig is the only one of its kind in this part of the nation. The hook-up was commonly used 35 to 40 years ago for operating all household lighting and power appliances, Tatman said.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

The O-Wa-Sa-Ki-Ta-Mi Junior High Camp Fire Girls met at the home of Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee Monday night for their Christmas dinner and party.

After the dinner, the girls presented Mrs. Woodmansee, their leader, with a Christmas gift. They then opened their gifts around the beautifully decorated tree. Games were played and awards in these went to Kay Yahn, Elaine Palmer, and Bonnie Snyder. The girls gathered around the piano for an old fashioned carol sing after which they enjoyed a specially decorated Christmas cake and soft drinks.

Girls present for this enjoyable event were Kay Yahn, Bonnie Snyder, Elaine Palmer, Jennifer Jette, Joyce Whiteside, Karen Waterman, and Joddy Gillen. Also present as guests were Tove and Wendy Woodmansee.

On working days, three out of every four men in the United States shave, but only 16 per cent of them shave every day in the year.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER 17

Fortunately someone had left a row boat tied up inside the zoo gates and Mr. Shnoo seated the Queen in the bow of the boat while he and Santa took the oars.

"How extraordinary!" said the Queen. "I've never inspected a zoo by boat before. I must say it is quite restful!"

Some swans paddled alongside and nodded gracefully to the Queen as if they knew she was royalty. A raft of bunny rabbits floated by followed by a crocodile who nudged the Queen's boat curiously before drifting off.

"How perfectly wonderful" exclaimed the Queen. "You do not keep the tame animals caged in. They are at home all over the zoo!"

At this moment the boat came to a sudden halt and although Santa and Mr. Shnoo rowed furiously, nothing happened. Then the boat began to rise from the water and they saw to their horror that Molly the hippopotamus, whom they had forgotten to return to her cage, had swum under the boat and was now trying to stand up.

For a moment the boat teetered on Molly's back before splashing down into the water, fortunately right side up. The Queen was shaken but quite game and thought it all a spendid lark. She took some peanuts from her purse and threw them to Molly.

Mr. Shnoo and Santa rowed on. They showed the Queen the bear with the dinosaur teeth, the monkeys who lived in the reindeer's antlers, and Henrietta, the skating elephant.

The tour was almost ended when a dreadful ruckus broke out in the lion house. The large cats roared and at the same time a man screamed a most awful scream.

'Merry Christmas! Merry Christmas to all!'

Santa and Mr. Shnoo bent their backs to the oars and in two seconds the boat landed on the steps of the lion house. It could go no farther because the water had receded from the house and the floor was dry. Mr. Shnoo and Santa and the Queen rushed into the house and there they saw a fearful sight!

Crookshank stood in the cage holding his hands before his face and screaming while the lions leaped at him. The angry lions had already torn away his coat.

Mr. Shnoo leaped past an attendant and rushed into the cage. Crookshank screamed, "Save me! Save me!"

"Down Lucy," said Mr. Shnoo quietly. "Flossy! Cedric! Go away! Edgar, quiet!"

Calmly he laid his hand on each lion's head and obediently they crept away. Mr. Shnoo picked Crookshank up in his arms and carried him out of the cage.

"It was his fault!" cried the attendant. "He unfastened the cage and tried to turn the lions loose. Said he wanted them to frighten away the Queen. He stuck pins in them to make them wild!"

"Is this true?" asked the Queen sternly.

"It's my zoo," said Crookshank lamely.

Then Mr. Shnoo told the Queen how he had bought the zoo from Crookshank and fixed it up and made it what it was today but it wasn't really his until he made the final payment of 1,000 gold pieces.

The Queen said, "It's yours now for I have never seen such a wisely run zoo or a man so good with animals." She opened her purse and drew out a check for 1,000 pieces of gold and tossed it to Crookshank who took it and slunk away.

"I should like," said the Queen, "for this zoo to be known as my favorite zoo and I should like to present it with 1,000 gold pieces each Christmas as long as I reign.

Mr. Shnoo turned quite pink with happiness. "It shall be called the Queen's Zoo," he said, "and it will grow better each year."

He looked around for Santa but the fat little fellow had gone. Suddenly they heard the jingling of bells overhead. They rushed out doors and saw eight reindeer circling overhead. Santa was perched on the vary last one.

"Good gracious!" cried the Queen. "I had forgotten Christmas is almost here!"

"For me," said Mr. Shnoo. "Christmas has already come!"

He waved happily to Santa and the Queen waved and Santa waved back. And they all shouted together "Merry Christmas! Merry Christmas to all!"

'Adeste Fidelis' Written By St. Bonaventure

"O Come, All Ye Faithful" or "Adeste Fidelis" may have been written by the 13th century writer and teacher, Saint Bonaventure, but its exact origin is a mystery. There's no secret about its popularity today. It has been translated into 120 languages, and there are more than 40 English versions.

Christmas In New York 'Big Time' Instructive As Well As Entertaining

By SANDO BOLOGNA

NEW YORK — Manhattan has a strong appeal to the countless Americans who go to the "Big City" during December. A multitude of activities lures American families who enjoy the excitement, color and action in New York.

For the Christmas season — and for weeks after the holidays —New York is donned in festive dress, creating a fairyland of color and pageantry, especially in the huge department stores.

Fifth Avenue becomes more attractive than ever; theaters and night clubs are also decorated appropriately; hundreds of churches are in special religious grandeur. Rockefeller Center takes on a distinctive and exciting charm.

There are many ways that a holiday - bound family can enjoy New York for the special weeks. An economy funfest would be a morning ride on the Staten Island ferry (remember it's still only a 5-cent fare); a short visit around Staten Island, then back to Manhattan on the ferry; up to Central Park to see the zoo and watch the skaters on the special rink.

* * *

ANOTHER DAY'S activities might include attendance at a TV show, a subway ride to the Battery where boats take 850,000 or more people annually to the Statue of Liberty on Liberty Island, and then a visit aboard the world's best known ocean liners.

The best way to explore New York at Yuletide is by walking. Even if it snows, it's fun walking in Manhattan's canyons." An itinerary might include a stroll from Grand Central Station, westward on Forty-Second Street, then eastward to the United Nations, appropriately called the "World's Capital.' Frequent tours are scheduled from the first floor of the U. N. Secretariat and Assembly Building.

From the United Nations, a family may taxi (to save time) to St. Patrick's Cathedral where the altars are decorated in Christmas splendor. Across the street from the church is Rockefeller Center, where tours are conducted for nominal fees.

New York, incidentally, has more than 2,500 places of worship, including the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, largest Gothic cathedral in the world, and Temple Emanu-El, largest synagog of modern times.

Another day - long program may begin with the three - hour boat excursion around Manhattan, starting from the Forty-Third Street pier. An appropriate follow-up after the boat ride would be a visit to the New York Coliseum, which features holiday shows for the family, and the free American Museum of Natural History.

* * *

THE FAMILY shouldn't miss the celestial demonstration in the Copernican Room at the adjacent Hayden Planetarium, followed by an hour - long "sky-show" in the Planetarium's Theater of the Stars.

For the art - minded visitors there are the famous Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Museum of Modern Arts, the Cloisters, the Whitney Museum of American Art, the new Guggenheim Museum, and a number of smaller galleries.

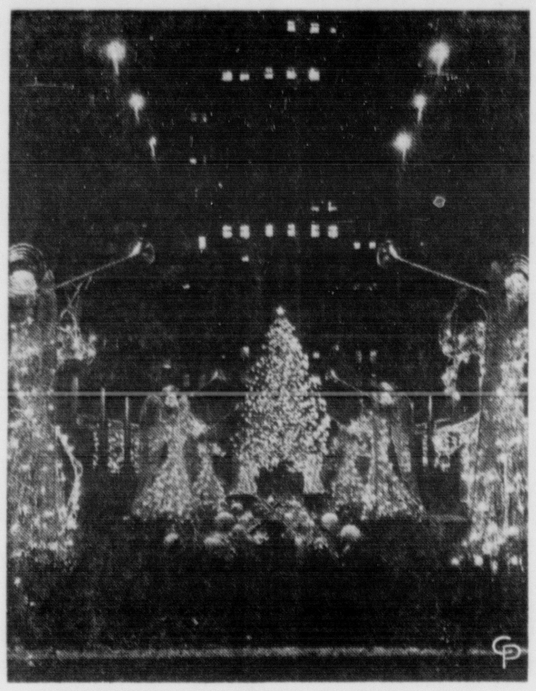
A bus tour of New York is another easy way to find out the amazing diversity of neighborhoods, such as Greenwich Village with its quaint streets and historic sights, Chinatown with its Oriental atmosphere, and Wall Street with its imposing financial structures.

A special warmth pervades Greenwich Village. It was here that on Christmas Eve just 140 years ago, Prof. Clement C. Moore penned the famous poem which begins " 'Twas the night before Christmas when all through the house, not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse. . ."

Moore wrote the poem to delight his six children. Today it is read to millions of youthful fans of St. Nicholas.

Greenwich Village retains much of the spirit and atmosphere of Moore's era. Candlelight services are held at midnight in Greenwich churches, some of which are among the oldest in New York.

'STATE' VISITOR—Here is the world-famed "Mona Lisa," which will be displayed in the National Gallery in Washington for three weeks beginning Jan. 8. Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy wangled it from French Culture Minister Andre Malraux. The 8½-by-30-inch painting, by Leonardo da Vinci 456 years ago, is insured for $100 million.



A Rockefeller Center, New York City, Christmas display.

Santa Claus Gains Favor With Italian Children

Santa Claus is gaining favor with Italian children, but the traditional gift - giver, especially south of Rome, is Befana. Usually represented as a gray-haired witch who rides a broomstick, she brings toys for good children, but a stocking full of coal or ashes for naughty ones.

Legends say, variously, that she misdirected the Magi or that she refused shelter to the Holy Family. Repenting, she now goes around the world on Christmas Eve, seeking the Christ Child and doing good to children.

Santons Better Known Than Santa In France

In southern France "santons" are better known than Santa. "Santons" are clay replicas of members of the Holy Family, manger animals and saints.

Since the creche, rather than the evergreen tree, is the center of Christmas home decoration in France, the santons play an important part.

Feasts In Scotland Observe Christmas

Christmas feast favorites in Scotland include shortbread a rich cake or cookie, and haggies, a kind of pudding. New Year's Eve, or Hogmanay, is the principal day for gifts and greetings, when children go singing from house to house, in hopes of a treat.

Family Celebrations Are Held In Portugal

Christmas is the occasion for a family celebration among the Portuguese. Families gather on Christmas Eve for dinner at the home of the oldest living relative. After the children have gone to bed, a crib or creche is placed before the fireplace, and around it are grouped the children's shoes, which serve the same function as Christmas stockings.

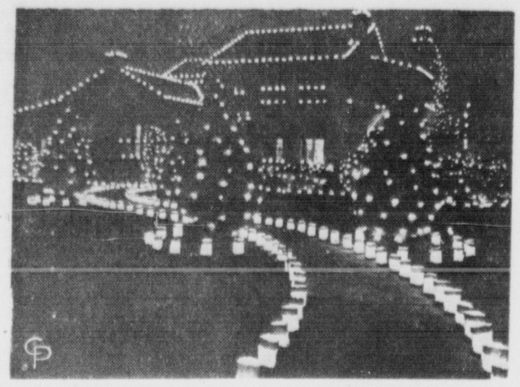
Christmas Luminarias Unique Southwest Idea



Luminarias outline a home in New Mexico.

By BILL LYNDE
Central Press Association

An unsuual and practical decoration idea for Christmas: Put luminarias around the chimney top so the Christ Child and Santa Claus can come into the house together on Christmas Eve.

Short, plumber-type candles anchored in sand at the bottom of folded - down paper bags make the luminarias (meaning "festive lights"). Chimneys, roof lines, window sills, and walks lined with the inexpensive, easy - to - make luminarias transform the house exterior into a Christmas wonderland.

Luminarias are an old Spanish custom. Descendants of the Conquistadores and converted Pueblo Indians originated the symbolism of lighting the way for the Christ Child to enter on Christmas Eve. Now, luminarias flourish in communities throughout the upper Rio Grande valley of West Texas and New Mexico.

El Paso has a city - wide contest for luminaria decorations. A few miles up the Rio Grande, the town of Las Cruces, N. M., encourages annual display of luminarias made on a permanent basis with 25-watt electric light bulbs, socketed, wired and wrapped in varnished brown paper shields fastened to roofs and walls by wire coat hangers.

* * *

ALBUQUERQUE and Santa Fe boast luminaria displays. So do most other smaller towns and villages in the "Luminaria Belt" along the Rio Grande, but less pretentiously.

Some families moving from the Southwest to other parts of the nation have taken the custom with them as a unique Christmas decoration idea.

In the beginning, centuries ago, the Pueblos and Mexican families lighted pyramided piles of wood to mark the way and warm the visitors who came on Christmas Eve and for special saint days. The paper bag version grew out of that.

* * *

HERE IS a simple, five - step method for making and using luminarias:

1—Buy standard No. 5 or No. 6 brown paper bags. Crease top down two one-inch turns to the inside. (This braces the bag against the wind, discourages overturning.)

2—Sprinkle a one-pound coffee can full of sand in bottom of each bag to hold candle upright and extinguish flame when it burns down.

3—Stand plumber-type or votive candle erect in sand.

4—Set luminarias three feet apart along walks, curbs and on house exterior.

5—Curtain interior illumination and light luminarias with kitchen-type matches (If the 15-hour votive candles are used, extinguish with small fruit juice can and relight Christmas night.)

* * *

SO POPULAR have luminarias become as Yuletide decorations in El Paso that school and civic groups manufacture them in wholesale lots to sell as money - making projects.

For example, Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity on the Texas Western College campus sold and installed $2,000 worth last Christmas and ran out of stock.

This year, the SAE boys folded 35,000 sacks to sell at 10 cents apiece, complete with sand and candle.

Mistletoe Reputed To Father Romance

Mistletoe, long a symbol and signal for kissing whoever is caught standing under it, actually is a predatory plant that entwines itself around a tree, strangling and killing it.

Hardly what one might term an affectionate plant!

The ancient Arabians showed their devotion to their gods by kissing; the Romans too accepted the kiss as a sign of reverence and respect.

The Druids too, embraced the mistletoe, and from them perhaps, came the custom of hanging pieces of it over the doorways of their homes.

The custom of hanging the mistletoe was also widespread among the Scandinavians.

In many countries from time to time, the plant was considered a cure-all for almost every kind of ailment, but that was before modern medicine.

Today, of course, the mistletoe isn't a cure for anything, except perhaps a shy boy or girl.

The mistletoe is a part of Christmas, and if custom decrees that being kissed if caught under it is par for the course, who can argue with tradition?

Science Seeks Christmas Star Source

Since St. Matthew first described the star of Bethlehem, its mystery has fascinated mankind.

Was it a miracle? Or was it a brighter - than - usual star of other celestial object?

Astronomers, while seeking to identify the star, enphasize that it may have been indeed a miracle that can't be explained in terms of natural phenomena.

However, research has provided material for conjecture that the star may have been a natural occurrence.

A Danish astronomer, Tycho Brahe, discovered a new and brilliant star in the consetllation Cassiopeia in 1572, according to the Encyclopedia Americana.

Since that discovery, The Americana says, it has been suggested that this might be an especially brilliant star visible only at long intervals.

A reported appearance of a bright star in that part of the heavens about the middle of the 13th century, coupled with a vague account of a similar appearance a little more than 300 years earlier, led to the thought that these might possibly be former apperances of the star of 1572.

* * *

IF, AS this might indicate, the star appeared at intervals of 310 to 315 years, three intervals of 300-odd years from the time it was first reported would carry it back to about the time of the birth of Christ.

Johannes Kepler, a German astronomer, made discoveries that led to still another theory about the star of Bethlehem. In 1604, he observed a configuration, or close grouping, of the planets Jupiter, Saturn and Mars.

He determined that such a configuration occurred each 805 years, and calculations established that the same grouping might have appeared in 6 B.C. — which, some research indicates, may have been the correct year of Christ's birth.

Since legends identify the wise men as astrologers, this theory accounts for the fact that, as reported in the New Testament, only the wise men saw the star.

While the three planets grouped together would shed unusual brightness, the average observer might not notice them, while the wise men, as astrologers, would.

Times Change, But Shepherds Still Watch Sheep At Night

Sheep and sheepherding are closely linked with the Christmas story, and they also serve as a symbol of the kindness and loving care that was part of Christ's message to mankind.

When darkness falls on Christmas Eve, today's sheepherder is watching his flocks by night and, probably, looking at the stars in the heavens, just as the shepherds of old did.

There are some differences — for instance, the sheepherder on the Western ranges of the U.S. has changed the shepherd's robes for levis, and the flocks he watches are much larger, numbering sheep by the thousands. But the meaning of shepherd—"to herd guard, lead," says a dictionary definition—hasn't changed.

Sheep still must be watched by night, because, for some reason known only to the sheep, night is the time they are most likely to decide to roam to faraway places. In sudden storms, the sheepherder, his horse and dog must guide the flock to shelter.

The ailing sheep or the new born lamb are sure of the herder's gentle care, and when part of the flock has strayed, he searches with a diligence that recalls the parable of Jesus:

"What man of you, having a hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, doth not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost, until he finds it?" (Luke 15:4).

'Angel Of Cairo' Is Hailed For Her Aid To 'Snow Baby'

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Sylvia Ruth King—a 10-day-old bundled baby making her first public appearance—came back down route 43 Sunday.

It was a lot different from her last trip.

Sylvia Ruth and her mother might have died when the family car mired down on the storm-swept highway early Dec. 7 as the worst blizzard in more than a decade paralyzed northeastern Ohio.

But there were people to help—as always there seem to be people when they are needed.

Last Sunday, Sylvia Ruth was one of the guests of honor at a neighborhood-village ceremony for which some 150 persons turned out to spotlight:

Sylvia Ruth herself, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. King of Canton.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Clarke who got out of bed and opened their home and hearts to King and his wife, the latter already in labor, when snowdrifts blocked them en route to Aultman Hospital.

Mrs. Cy Walpole, former maternity nurse who delivered the baby at the Clarke home after a storm-tossed ride on the icy fender of Clarke's tractor. Doctors couldn't get through to the Clarke home.

Route 43 was a friendly highway for travelers once again last Sunday—not the snow-blocked trap which closed on the Kings during the blizzard.

Then it was a white, frightening impassable thing, lashed by swirling snow and knifing winds when King stumbled to the Clarke door and found—as mentioned later in a Canton Repository editorial—that "there was room at the inn."

The testimonial last Sunday was arranged by Arthur W. Conley of Enchanted Valley Farm. A neighbor of Mr. and Mrs. Walpole, he said he "thought the beyond-call-of-duty actions by these fine people was a thing which cried out for the recogniton."

Conley insisted the event was "just a spontaneous act by people around here," who arranged for Sunday surprise party outside the Walpole home.

All the people who had a hand in bringing Sylvia Ruth into the world were there at 1 p. m. when bells started to ring, whistles, with a bagpipe, horns and banging of pans and kettles adding to the serenade.

Conley had hand-lettered a huge sign and placed it in the Walpole yard. It read:

"Nurse Donna Walpole lives here. In the darkness of Dec. 7, 1962, down this street rode nurse Donna on a farm tractor driven by Ed Clarke. They plunged into the night, into the blizzard, into three feet of snow.

"'Hold on, Donna, we're going through!' said Ed. And they did. Baby Sylvia King is here today because of them.

"Of such as these Cairo is proud."

Conley also had purchased loving cups for nurse Donna, the Clarkes and baby Sylvia. The 12-inch gold cups for Donna Walpole, whom her admirers called "The Angel of Cairo"—and the Clarkes were inscribed "for valiant deeds Dec. 7, 1962."

Family Gets Yule Gift Again

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Thanks to a $300 gift from an anonymous donor, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Arnold and their nine children will have a happy Christmas although the parents have had a streak of bad luck lately.

Business has been bad at the beauty shop operated by Mrs. Arnold in their home. Arnold has been ill recently and the family has been on relief, but the $300 will provide Christmas gifts for the couple and their children, ages 7 to 21.

The money was sent to the Akron Beacon Journal for the Arnolds. This is the 10th Christmas in a row the family has received cash from the unidentified benefactor and the gifts have totaled $2,400.

It all started in 1953, when Mrs. Arnold was doing her Christmas shopping with only $37 and a man in a department store asked if the eight children accompanying her were hers. When told that they were, the man placed a $20 bill on the counter and walked away, wishing her a merry Christmas.

A letter of thanks from Mrs. Arnold was printed by the Beacon Journal the following day and a man brought another $80 to the newspaper for her. Each year after that an envelope containing money has been sent to the paper for delivery to Mrs. Arnold. The envelopes have had an Akron postmark.

"This is our Christmas miracle," said Mrs. Arnold. "What more can I say after all these years?"

Red Hot Punt Made

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Tucson firemen blamed a football for setting a utility pole on fire.

They said a punt went astray, hit a ground wire and knocked it against a hot wire, thus starting the blaze.

Village Finds Its Crib Scene Is Plagued By Little Troubles

BLUE ASH, Ohio (AP)—Building a Crib for Christmas has been a real eye-opener for residents of this Hamilton County community.

It all started when City Manager Carrol Pickens announced he wanted to build a "creche"—another name for the traditional representation of the birthplace of the Christ-child.

He had trouble making himself understood and had to start referring to the five-figure assemblage as a "Nativity scene."

A local farmer presented some live sheep for the Crib. They tried to break out of their pen earlier this week, and maintenance men were ordered to build a chicken wire barricade to hold them in.

The maintenance men had no trouble with that. But fixing feed was something else again.

Informants at City Hall confided the maintenance men put too much molasses in the feed Monday and Tuesday. This gave the sheep diarrhea.

Marv Stevens, a farm boy now employed as a policeman, came to the rescue with a new formula and Wednesday night the sheep appeared healthy, albeit a little suilen, as they stood behind the fence under a banner proclaiming "peace on earth."

Then the fire department entered the scene.

While workmen put up the straw and wood stable next to the wooden maintenance building, Fire Chief Ervin McNess walked over.

He said the stable was a fire hazard. But this being the Christmas season, he allowed the Nativity scene to stay after he urged caution and periodic fire checks, plus putting up "no smoking" signs on both sides of the Crib.

The Crib is now complete with dressed up mannequins, and residents are waiting for some snow to make the Christmas scene complete.

But that just might bring new problems.

Bob Hope Checks On Ailing Ohioan

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Screen and television star Bob Hope, making his annual Christmas tour to entertain members of the Armed Forces, took time out this week to call from London to inquire about a Middletown woman who is ill in Middletown Hospital.

Mrs. Wilbur Hughes of Germantown, a nurse at the hospital, said Hope called Tuesday to inquire about Mrs. Hazel Canton, 74, who is critically ill and unconscious. Mrs. Hughes said she was told Mrs. Canton, a singer, appeared with Hope on the stage many years ago.

There IS A Santa Claus!

A little girl's curiosity has led to a bit of Christmas philosophy that has since become a Christmas classic.

One day — in December — in 1897, Virginia O'Hanlon wrote a letter to the New York Sun.

"I am eight years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. My papa says, 'If you see it in The Sun, it's so. Please tell me the truth — is there a Santa Claus?"

Because we believe the reply with its message of keen, spiritual insight deserves reading again and again — we repeat it here.

It was written by Francis E. Church, a writer for the old Sun.

HERE IT IS:

"Yes, indeed!

"Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age — they do not believe except what they see — they think nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds."

"All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's are little. In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole truth and knowledge."

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus."

"He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished."

"Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies!"

"You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus — the most real things in the world are those neither children nor men can see."

"Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there — nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders that are unseen and unseeable in the world."

"You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, or even the united strength of all the strongest men, that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy poetry, love, romance, can push aside the curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond."

"Is it all real? — ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding."

"No Santa Claus! Thank God! —he lives, and he lives forever —a thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

U.S. To Decorate 25 Million Trees

Just to give a slight indication of the population explosion in the United States, it might be well to note that it is estimated that more than 25 million Christmas trees will be decorated this year.

You can multiply this number by the estimated number of decorations and tree lights that will be required, and you can guess as to what proportions the Christmas business has grown.

Holy Land Was Birthplace Of Three Great Religions

It is questionable whether many people realize the geographical area that comprised the world around which Christianity grew.

It is also more amazing to contemplate the world today and the influence Christianity has had upon civilization, when it is reflected that all the events the Bible records occurred in a area no more than 80 miles wide and 400 miles long!

The area known as the Holy Land is small indeed. The historical events however, which have taken place in this tiny piece of land, have almost literally taken civilization by its heels and shaken it into a realization of the difference between good and evil, even though in some parts of the world this realization is not openly acknowledged

Within these small boundaries, contrasts can be found that are startling.

For example, near Galilee the rainfall is abundant, while not far distant the desolateness of the Negev desert is well known. Within a distance of 15 miles one can travel from heights of 2600 feet above sea level to 1297 feet below sea level.

* * *

THE OLDEST inhabited city in the world is in the Holy Land. It is Damascus, which has been continuously inhabited from the earliest recordings of Biblical times to the present. The old wall around Damascus still stands and is so thick in places that many families have carved out homes from its massiveness.

The oldest city in terms of founding dates is Jericho. It is said to be 10,000 years old. However, it has not always been inhabited.

There have been four Jerichos at various times, each not more than two miles from the previous sites.

Also in this fabulous land is the River Jordan. It now is a muddy stream not more than 50 feet wide that's deep in the spring-time and dry during the hot summer months.

* * *

MANY PEOPLE are under the false impresson that the Sea of Galilee is really a sea. It is not. It is a lake 13 miles long and 8 miles wide.

There is one place in the Holy Land that is more famous than any other— Jerusalem. Even today it is a walled city, that has been besieged and razed more than thirty times, and is little more than 80 acres in area.

Outside the wall of Jerusalem is the famous Garden of Gethsemane and the Mount of Olives.

* * *

NAZARETH, the city from which Joseph and Mary started on their trip to Bethlehem, is now a barren small town.

The Holy Land is the birthplace of three of the world's great religions: Christianity, Judaism and Mohammedanism.

Still a land of controversy and conflict, it is prayed one day the teachings of Him who said, "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men,' will be heeded.

AAA Suggests You Allow Extra Time For Holiday Travel

If your plans over the long Christmas and New Year's holidays include highway travel, then allow extra driving time to get to your destination, suggests The Fayette County Automobile Club.

"With many offices and industries also closed on the eve of both holidays, many persons will have four-day periods in which to travel," notes that AAA club official.

"As a result, more people will be traveling, and they probably will be planning longer trips than usual."

The combination of heavy traffic and possible bad weather may cause some drivers to press a little harder and be a little less careful than usual to get to where they are going. . . either of which can trigger an accident which could mar the holiday period.

The AAA official suggests that motorists allow an extra hour for every two hours of driving time a trip would take in good weather during a non-holiday period.

'Herald Angels Sing'

Charles Wesley, who during his lifetime (1707-1788) wrote hundreds of hymns, was inspired to write "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" as he walked to church on Christmas day and heard the London church bells chime.
